HAVING recently received an extensive stock, and daily adding to it the latest styles of
SPRING GOODS,

Together with an enormous stock of DOMESTICS, purchased in the Fall at very low figures, with a view of being prepared for the EARLY SPRING TRADE, without being subjected to the exorbitant rates of Rail Road charges on such goods as are sold at a fraction above Eastern cost, we are prepared to show, and will be most happy to sell the

MOST COMPLETE AND EXTENSIVE STOCK OF DRY GOODS,
Ever before offered in the West!

Being connected with several large manufacturing establishments and importing houses at the East, giving us an advantage over any other Mercantile House in the State, and having long resided and done business in this city, and our established principles of doing business being well known to every city and country customer, to be of the most liberal nature, we flatter ourselves that we can say with safety that we consider competition quite out of the question.

We would say to
COUNTRY MERCHANTS
who design going East to purchase, that we would esteem it a favor if they would honor us with a call before leaving for New York and Boston, as we feel quite confident that we can convince them that it is to their interest to purchase in Milwaukee.

DAILY SENTINEL.

The Railway.

The silent glen, the sunless stream,
  To wandering boyhood dear,
And treasured still in many dream,
  They are no longer here.
A huge red mound of earth is thrown
Across the glen so wild and lone,
  The stream so cold and clear,
And lightning speed and thundering sound
Pass hourly o'er the unsightly mound.

Nor this alone; for many a mile
  Along that iron way,
No verdant banks or hedgerows smile
  In summer's glory gay;
Thro' chasms that yawn as though the earth
Were rent in some strange mad [illegible]-birth,
  Whose depths exclude the day,
We're borne along at headlong pace,
To win from time the wearing race!

The wayside inn with home-like air,
  No longer tempts a guest
To taste its unpretending fare,
  Or seek its welcome rest;
The prancing team, the merry horn,
The cool fresh road at early morn,
  The coachman's ready jest,
All, all to distant dream-land gone,
While shrieking trains are hurrying on.

Yet greet we them with thankful hearts,
  And eyes that own no tear,
'Tis nothing now the space which parts
  The distant from the dear;
The wings that to her cherished nest
Bears home the bird's exulting breast,
  Has found its rival here;
With speed like hers we too can haste,
The bliss of meeting hearts to taste.

For me, I gaze along the line
  To watch the approaching train,
And deem it still, 'twixt me and mine,
  A rude but welcome chain
To bind us in a world whose ties
Each passing hour to sever tries,
  But here may try in vain,
To bring us home [illegible]
Stern Fate employs to keep apart.

INSTRUCTION.

BAYLIES & LINCOLN'S
Milwaukee Commercial College
212 and 214 East Water St.,
MILWAUKEE, - - WISCONSIN.

THE proprietors of the Milwaukee Commercial College would respectfully announce that the Liberal patronage that has been extended to this deservedly popular enterprise has led them to extend the field of study, so that it will embrace every branch of a thorough Commercial Education. As there are no classes formed in any department of study—(thereby enabling the student to enter any time, each one receiving separate instructions)—the student, on entering, is placed in the Counting Room, with actual transactions to work from, thus making his education not merely theoretical, but practical to the last degree. The Commercial Course comprises Book-Keeping by Double Entry, in its various forms, as adapted to Wholesale, Retail, Commission, Manufacturing, Custom House, Banking, Railroading, in stock partnership, and compound Company business. Commercial Calculations in per centage, Exchange, Bank and Regular Discounts, Averaging, Accounts by Simple and Compound Equations, &c, according to the most approved methods. Commercial Correspondence, including account sales, account currents, drafts, bills of exchange, &c., &c.

Also, a perfect system of detecting Counterfeit Bank Notes, will be given to each student.

A good Hand Writing guaranteed to every person completing a full course.

During the Seasons, Lectures on Commercial Law will be delivered by eminent legal and business men, and no pains will be spared to make this department particularly attractive.

The Reading Room will be supplied with the various Daily and other papers and publications.

Particular attention will be given to Ladies who may wish to acquire a business education, and separate rooms have been beautifully fitted up for their use.

Merchants and other business men are informed that, at any time, by a few days' notice, they can be supplied with competent Accountants and young men will be assisted in procuring situations when desired.

For terms and other particulars please address

The "Sentinel" for the Campaign.

As many persons may be desirous to obtain the Sentinel for the Campaign, without ordering it for the full term of a year, we publish the following rates, at which we will send one or more copies of our several editions, from July 15th to December 1st. As the Election occurs Nov 4th, this ought, in these days of telegraphs, to enable us to give the result in all of the States of the Union except California, in the last number.

Daily,	$2 50
Tri-Weekly,	1 25
Weekly,	37½

The above rates for the Daily and Tri-Weekly are somewhat less than our regular terms. For the Weekly they are the same as $1 per year. Circulate the Documents.

Buchanan Meeting.—The Buchanan men held a meeting at the Market House, last evening. Notwithstanding the efforts made to draw a crowd by the help of cannon, music, placards and so forth, there were not over three or four hundred persons in the Hall. The meeting having been organized, the invitation of the Fremont Club, to hold a public discussion, was read and referred to the Executive Committee. Mr. James S. Brown then took the stand, and spoke at some length in behalf of Mr. Buchanan and the Sham Democracy. The speech did not do justice to Mr. Brown's talents, the cause weighing down the advocate. One remarkable statement, however, deserves notice. Mr. Brown insisted that the resolution endorsing Pierce, adopted by the Cincinnati Convention, was passed by Mr. Buchanan's friends on purpose to injure him, and he cited Mr. Benton to prove the fact. Dr. Hubschmann followed Mr. Brown in a speech to his German fellow-citizens. The Doctor, as in duty bound, stood up for the Administration under which he holds a fat office. He did not seem to agree with Mr. Brown in the idea that the resolution endorsing Pierce was passed by the Cincinnati Convention purposely to damage Buchanan. Upon the whole, the meeting did not seem to be a very profitable one.

But the South is willing to submit to the decision of the people, which is virtually giving up the extension of Slavery, as the North can send ten men to any new State, where the South can send one. Yet there are fanatics who object to accepting this arrangement, merely because they want power, not because they care for freedom.—[illegible]

Was that the reason which induced the editor of the News, in 1848, to go in so strongly for Free Soil and against Slavery extension? Then, there was no practical result immediately in issue. Yet the News editor adopted the Buffalo Platform, supported Mr. Van Buren, and "shrieked for Freedom" as earnestly as any "Black Republican," or "Woolly-Headed Abolitionist"! Is it possible that the "sop" of a fat office from Uncle Sam can have converted this "Free Soiler" of 1848 into the Buchaneer and Pro-Slavery man of 1856? And that too when the great practical issue of the campaign and of the day is, shall we set limits to Slavery, or permit its black and withering shadow to overspread Kansas, Nebraska, Utah, New Mexico and Lower California?

Herbert at Cincinnati.—The Buchaneer prints have strenuously denied that the murderer Herbert took part in the Convention which nominated Buchanan and Breckinridge. We have already quoted from the Janesville Standard, the editor of which was in attendance at the Cincinnati Convention, to prove that Herbert was there. Here is evidence to the same effect from the Cincinnati Gazette of the 25th inst:

We have not by us at present the means of ascertaining whether Herbert was regularly appointed a delegate by the Democrats of California, to represent them in the Cincinnati Convention, but we do know that he was present during the session of the Convention, sat with the California delegation, and appeared to have as much to do with their proceedings as any other delegate.

The Germans in Kentucky.—The Louisville Journal says that the vote of the German population of Kentucky is estimated at 10,000. This vote has hitherto been given to the Democratic party, but nearly the whole of it will now go to the support of the Fremont ticket. In 1854, the Free German Republicans of the State held a Convention in Louisville, and adopted an ultra anti-slavery platform.

The same is true of the Germans in Texas, Kansas, Missouri, &c. They are for Free Lands, Free Labor, and Fremont. Can their more fortunate countrymen, who live in Free States, refuse to stand with them in this contest?

Canadian Harvest.—The Hamilton Banner, of July 25th, says the wheat harvest is now general throughout the adjoining counties, farmers being anxious to take advantage of the fine weather. The crop promises to be a full average one, and another week of such weather will see it harvested in good condition. Other grains and roots want rain badly.

The Toronto Globe is informed that the wheat crop in the county of Peel is very superior. Mr. George Wright, of Brampton, has one hundred acres all under wheat, which is calculated to yield thirty bushels per acre. Reaping has commenced with a number of farmers. The other crops promise well.

The "Atlas" for the Campaign.

The Atlas, the German Republican paper published in this city, will be furnished to subscribers, for the next three months at the low price of Fifty Cents per copy. Friends of the good cause! Supporters of Fremont and Freedom!—See that copies of this staunch Republican paper are circulated among the German voters in your several Districts. The Atlas is published twice a week. Send in your subscriptions!

Bully Brooks at the South.

Mr. Brooks, finding himself sustained by the undivided Southern vote and the entire Buchanan strength (with six exceptions) in the House of Representatives, now appeals to his South Carolina constituents to re-elect him. His card appears in the Columbia (S. C.) Banner of July 22d. We quote two paragraphs:

But a majority of the House has pronounced me, because of my act, unworthy of a seat in the American Congress. I could not, as the representative of a high-toned and gallant constituency, rest with this imputation upon you and myself. I resigned my seat, and kicking the black dust of a Black Republican majority from my feet, I left the Hall in indignation and disgust.

My appeal is to you. If I have represented you faithfully, then select me with an unanimity which will thunder into the ears of fanaticism the terrors of the storm that is coming upon them. If in aught I have failed to represent you as you are, then, in God's name, send some man whose blood is more sluggish than mine.

The South Carolina papers anticipate that Brooks will be re-elected, not only without opposition, but be a very heavy vote. No doubt of it. The South clearly approves of his ruffianism, and would gladly see the same law of force applied to every man who dares to speak out against Slavery. So, too, would they deal by every Free-speaking Press; and in Mr. Buchanan they have a very congenial candidate, since, as Senator, he voted to purge the mail of all "Abolition Documents!" The vote of the Buchanan members of Congress, sustaining Bully Brooks, was a faithful reflex of this act of their Presidential nominee.

The Charleston Mercury, the leading Pro-Slavery and Buchanan organ of South Carolina, has the following comment upon the Brooks case:

"In the next place, it has contributed greatly to the union of Southern men in Congress. We do not remember any act which has been so generally approved, from Maryland to Texas, as Mr. Sumner's castigation. This unanimity of sentiment in the people has re-acted upon their representatives at Washington; and on the other hand, the furious denunciations in every quarter of the North, have developed the same feeling of unanimity among Northern representatives; and the result is, that lines of sectionalism have been drawn deeper than ever before, to the disgust of party hacks, and the satisfaction of true men in the South. We rejoice at any event which makes common cause at the South, and foreshadows her destiny as a separate and independent people."

This being a "Democratic" sentiment, of course there is nothing "sectional" about it. But what a hue and cry the Buchaneer Press would raise if a Republican paper should give utterance to such language!

Sparta, Monroe County.—The Western Times (published at Viroqua, Bad Ax County) gives the following account of the village of Sparta, Monroe County:

This village took us by surprise the other day. We did not expect to find a place of more than 200 or 300 people, just starting into life. But instead of that we found a place of 1,000 inhabitants, going ahead in fine style. The buildings are nearly all new, and about fifty more are building. They have 3 hotels, 15 or 20 stores, 2 land offices, a printing office, and most all kinds of mechanics to match. There is a good water power, and they have already one sawmill in operation. We called at the office of the Sparta Watchman, and had a pleasant chit chat, with both the Editor and Printer of the establishment. It argues well for Sparta and the people of the county, that their newspaper is well sustained.

Munchausen Again.—The Beaver Dam Republican continues to distinguish itself in the realms of fiction. Here are its latest inventions, in regard to Col. Fremont.

He has swindled the State of California out of one hundred thousand dollars interest money. He has joined a Know Nothing Club to suit the Americans, and became a Roman Catholic to suit the foreigners. He has bought and sold slaves, members of Congress, and newspapers, and assaulted a member of the U. S. Senate, with a malicious intent, and in the genuine spirit of a Border Ruffian.

We wonder how many of its readers the Republican expects to gull with such absurd and barefaced falsehoods?

Sat Sent Isaac.—Mrs. Partington was unable to accept the polite invitation to attend the Buchanan barbecue at Burrillville, R. I., but she sent "Ike," her grandson, with the following banner of her own device and manufacture:

"Brook-cane 'em,
and
Breaking heads,
and the
Sin-sin naughty platform."

For Congress.—In the First District, the Democrats will probably re-nominate and elect the present able member, Hon. Daniel Wells, Jr.—Madison Patriot.

Not if the Barstow Democracy can prevent it. They are down on Daniel, and in for Counsellor Sanders, of Racine, or Alderman Hadley, of Milwaukee.

Hiss for Fremont.—Mr. Joseph Hiss has turned up again. He is a supporter of Fremont and "Americanism," and has been chosen a delegate to the State Convention of the Fremonters from the First Ward of Boston.—Madison Patriot.

False, of course. He is a K. N. and supports, primarily, Fillmore and next Buchanan. Between these two he has little choice, but he is utterly opposed to Fremont.

The Accident to the Empire State.—The Empire State, of the Fall River line, with 225 passengers on board, exploded her steam chest while rounding Point Judith on Saturday night last. By this accident eleven persons lost their lives, and twelve others were more or less injured. Of those fatally hurt 6 were attached to the boat and 5 were passengers.

The Wisconsin Democracy.—But for the midnight deeds, black, hideous and foul, which for the last two years have been transacted in its name, by a few prominent out casts, the Democratic party of this State could march to victory in the present contest, by virtue of its own inherent strength. Now it requires the hard fought battle, the thorough discipline, and the entire repudiation of those who, instead of blighting the course, should have been a tower of strength in every conflict with the foe.—Madison Patriot.

When is this "repudiation" to begin? Thus far the very men implicated in the "black, hideous and foul" deeds of which the Patriot speaks, have assumed to lead the Democratic forces in this State; are prominent at all the Buchanan gatherings, and have already parcelled out the nominations, offices, &c., for the fall.

The Counsel for Matt Ward.—There is a strong feeling of opposition to Breckinridge in Kentucky, growing out of the trial of Matt Ward, the murderer of the schoolmaster at Louisville. It will be remembered that Breckinridge was one of the "distinguished counsel" who volunteered to quit his post at Washington to go and screen the rich and guilty assassin from punishment.

M. & M. Railroad—Muscoda and Boscobel.—McDonald, the chief contractor of the M. & M. Railroad Company for the unfinished section as far as Boscobel, has given notice of his fixed purpose to complete the entire work thus far ready for the cars early in October. McDonald is understood to be a man not gassy but prompt in complying with all his promises, unforeseen accidents excepted. The news is causing a brisk stir at Muscoda and Boscobel, the points more chiefly interested. Each place is erecting a steam saw mill; and several taverns, stores, machine shops, &c., are going up in anticipation of the event. We notice that many are visiting Boscobel, to see what is there; we advise persons to look well to the surrounding country for twenty or thirty miles—see the routes for roads thereto, whether the place is easy of access from every point of the compass and quartering point; notice the water power, timber, health, quality of soil, kind of inhabitants, whether ignorant or intelligent, enterprising or stupid, foolish or wise. All these are essential; open your eyes, stop your ears and think soundly after you have seen all around.

The prairie or bottom between Muscoda and Boscobel, distance some fifteen miles, and width of prairie one to two miles, is the most beautiful we ever saw. The Railroad passes through the middle of prairie, with plenty of room on either side for farms; nearly every eighty lot has a fair supply of timber and water; on the south is a boundary of hills, notched and scalloped—resembling a great curtain, and on the north flows the noble Wisconsin. All together, there is much beauty and great prospective wealth along this prairie.—Grant Co. Herald.

An Outfit for the Jordan and Dead Sea—Bethany and the Tomb of Lazarus—Mount Temptation—The ancient city of Jericho—The fleas and beggars of Rihah—The unseen damsel—A Theatrical Entertainment—A Race with the Arabs—The River Jordan—The Dead Sea—The Convent of San Saba—Bethlehem and its Holy Places.

As I have before intimated, every traveller that makes this trip is led to believe before he starts that it is fraught with danger at every footstep. There is a constant attempt to keep up this feeling, from the Pasha down to the lowest Mooler, who performs in the country the important functions of hostler. When we left the Arab village to go to the Jordan and Dead Sea we had a Shekh of some place accompany us. He was a Bedouin, dark and swarthy, with malicious snake-like eyes sunk deep in his head. He was well mounted, armed to the teeth, and over his head wore a large silk handkerchief fringed with tassels; this was confined close to the head, the tassels hanging over the shoulders, by a large silk cord, full as large as a common bed cord, tied around the temples. Our guard walked and sometimes trotted about twenty rods ahead, and immediately in front rode this Bedouin Shekh. When we got within an hour's ride they all seemed to proceed with a great deal of caution, occasionally examining their guns and then looking ahead through the bushes as if they suspected the enemy lying in ambush.

Believing this to be all a farce, I spoke to Mr. M. and told him so, and if he would join me we would get by and ride on to the river. But he good-naturedly remarked that there was more fun in it to let them have their own way, and possibly less danger. Mr. G. said he would join me if I chose. He is a small man, but brim full of courage, although brought up by Quaker parents. As we had partly rode by the Shekh two or three times it had seemed to annoy him, so much so that he actually had showed much temper; we therefore expected some little trouble. Taking advantage of a level piece of ground where there were several tracks, we put our horses under full headway, and before the Shekh had time to intercept us we were past him. He however sang out to his men to stop us. One of them drew his sword and jumped into the path directly in front of my horse, and resenting this piece of impudence I put him into a complete run. In order to save being trampled under foot, the guard turned and run ahead with all his might, and the feet of an Arab are about as fleet as those of a horse. Being excited, I put spurs and whip to my horse until he seemed to fly with the swiftness of the wind, and while I expected his next bound would strike the man, the Arab dexterously jumped one side and saved himself. Hearing a shout behind me and the clattering of hoofs on the ground, on looking around I saw G. was coming under full headway, and before we could fairly get our horses stopped we were at the river. G. said one of the men sprang at his horse and caught him by the bridle, but being a very spirited animal and receiving a cut from the whip at the very moment, the force was sufficient to throw the Arab head long out to one side of the road. This was an effectual remedy and it seemed to disappoint the Shekh as well as all his men, for we had evidently stolen their thunder, for during the balance of the trip we heard nothing more about danger.

The river Jordan is not very wide, but deep and rapid. The banks at the time we were there were full, and the water, discolored with yellowish mud, seemed to be rushing by with great force and speed. In no other respect does it materially differ from streams in our own country. The country along the valley was covered with a low undergrowth of brush, while the lofty mountains on both sides looked barren and desolate. Yet on the banks of the river there was a luxuriant growth of trees, now almost covered with verdure, in whose branches the birds were carrolling their first songs to spring. Among the trees I recognized as old acquaintances the popple, willow and white birch. Although the river even in its swollen state does not exceed ten rods in width, yet from its depth and impetuosity I have no doubt it discharges as much water as ten ordinary rivers of its size.

As this is the only spot where the mountains are so flattened down as to admit into, and from Eastern Arabia, there can be no doubt but what it is the identical place where the Israelites passed the Jordan on their journey from Egypt. It is also memorable as the locality where the baptism of Christ took place. For this reason the pilgrims come here in great numbers, as many as ten thousand in a body, to bathe in the sacred river. After staying an hour and filling our bottles to carry home, we washed our hands and faces, and then turned our direction toward the Dead Sea, distant two hours. After travelling half the way, we came to a dry, barren plain, destitute of all vegetation, with here and there a white spot of some rods in extent of discolored gravel, produced by the crystallization of salt from the atmosphere. The air was close, hot, and gave an unpleasant sensation to the lungs. The songs of birds had ceased too, and nothing was seen nor heard except our own voices and the reverberation of our horses hoofs as we galloped over the hard earth. The stillness of death reigned around, made more apparent by a thin vaporish veil of clouds that hung over the sea itself. At last we reached the shore and stood upon the beach. In a short time the sun came out, and the high, black mountains of Moab that skirt its eastern shore, threw their dark shadows over the water, and those also in the west, tho' less in size, yet more desolate in looks, were plainly visible. Between these two ranges, deep set, lies the Dead Sea, about thirty miles in extent from north to south, varying in width, nearly 4,000 feet below the City of Jerusalem, and more than 2,000 feet lower than the Mediterranean.

After landing, most of the company took a bath. I found, as I had before read, that the water is very heavy, salt and bitter. In swimming it required but little effort on account of its specific gravity being so great; one can lie on the surface with as little effort as on a feather-bed. I experienced no unpleasant sensation, except in accidentally getting some of the water in my eyes. Every one should avoid this, because the pain is very acute. Reluctantly leaving what appears, not figuratively, but in reality, "the valley of the shadow of death," we slowly turned our horses heads towards the west, and commenced ascending the mountains towards the Greek Convent of San Saba. After passing over numerous barren mountains, through deep cavernous ravines, and occasionally winding around the shoulders of precipitous hills, over yawning gulphs, in order to gain some height, we at last arrived at what appeared to be a deep gorge between two high mountains. It was several hundred feet down to the bottom, and the walls, apparently, almost perpendicular. Along in the bottom and frequently in the sides where steps could be made down to them, would be seen holes cut into these stone heights, which have served for the abodes of hermits and monks. But I believe since they have ceased to be persecuted, these tenements have all been deserted. Following up this gorge, we reached, about sundown, the Convent, tired, way-worn and hungry.

When we rode up we presented quite the appearance of a small army, for there were about twenty of us altogether, and closing up one after another, we presented quite a cavalcade. I could not but help thinking of Europe in the middle ages, when the whole country was in possession of different clans whose chiefs maintained their rights by valor and their strongholds.—The convent of San Saba is more like a castle than anything else, being surrounded with impregnable walls, having towers, loop-holes and parapets. We had taken the precaution before we left Jerusalem to get a letter from the Greek Bishop to the brothers in the convent. When we knocked at the great gate a person appeared in one of the towers, some fifty feet from the ground, and soon we saw a basket being lowered. Into this our letter was dropped, and it was some little while we sat on our horses before the reply came, and the gate opened.

After dinner, as the main meal of the day is called all through this country, as well as in Europe, one of the priests showed us all over this wonderful pile of buildings, which has been in progress of building for the last five hundred years, although there are some portions of a much earlier date. The scenery around is grand and picturesque. According to tradition, but which the monks believe to be correct and true history, San Saba in A. D., 505, on a pilgrimage to Jordan, stopped at this spot over night in a cave—that during his sleep an angel appeared to him and told him he must build a monastery here.—When he awoke in the morning he looked around and found that there was no water and nothing to eat, for the mountains are rocky and barren for miles around. On his uttering these objections there immediately gushed forth from under a rock a fine fountain of living water, and there also miraculously appeared a gazelle. He immediately commenced erecting the convent. But the main part of the present building was commenced in 1809. There is at present residing there 40 monks. The chapel is very fine and has some excellent paintings. The tombs of the saint and a number of distinguished prelates of the church are pointed out. Among other things also a large stack of human bones of persons who suffered martyrdom some hundreds of years ago by the hands of the Mahometans in some of their persecutions of the Christians.

Several times during the night I awoke and always heard some of the monks at their devotions. I was informed there are a number there who had presented to the convent all their property after building themselves small simple habitations within the walls, and have spent long lives of humiliation and prayers. Some of them are very old, and others have long since been buried beneath their cells. After thanking the Superior of the convent for the kind hospitality we had received, not forgetting a generous present which always ought to be remembered, we took an early start and were on our way to Bethlehem. Our guard had disappeared, and we were not sorry to get rid of them, for their importunities for backshesh the day before had become annoying.

Four hours ride over the mountains brought us in sight of Bethlehem, an old city in ruins on the top of a high hill, resembling some of the ancient Roman cities, having large fortress-like looking buildings, turreted walls and narrow, filthy streets. A short distance before getting there, however, we rode across a large wheat field, and passing through a stone gateway into a small enclosure, we approached an old dilapidated stone chapel, surrounded by a few Olive trees. On entering I found that it was merely the covering to a grotto, down into which we descended by a flight of stone steps. After hunting a long while for the key, an old monk came with it and some wax tapers. This is known as the spot where the Wise Men came to see the Infant Christ. A rude chapel is made out of it, containing some few commonplace pictures and carvings; but it was so damp and cold I was glad to get out into the light and warmth of day again.

All the pilgrims who visit Jerusalem also go to Bethlehem, the spot where Christ was born. This is called the place of the Nativity. Over it is built a large convent, divided off into three parts, for the Romans, the Greeks and Armenians. Feeling more at home with the former, we made our stay with them, and by them were taken down into the grotto and shown the holy places. Space will not allow me to go into particulars in describing this interesting place. But in brief it is very much like the holy sepulchre parceled off into different shrines and illuminated by light from lamps of gold which are always burning. All the rooms seemed to have been chambers hewn out of the solid rock. In one was the place where Our Savior was born—in another was where Joseph sat, and another was called the grotto of the innocents. Dark and narrow passages from these, through which we threaded our way, led us to different caves which have been occupied by learned divines and holy men at some of the early periods of the Christian era. Here were their pictures and portraits. In others were those of many of the martyrs. After spending two hours here we mounted our horses again and galloped over the hills towards Jerusalem.

The Prevailing Drought.

Our exchanges for the past few days are full of complaints of the long continued dry weather and consequent unfavorable effects upon the growing crops. The evil seems to be a very serious one along the Atlantic sea-board, where a "heated term" of two, or three weeks duration, has aggravated the difficulty. We copy a few paragraphs in illustration:

From the N. Y. Tribune, July 28.

The extended drought and intolerable heat have well nigh exhausted mortal endurance. It is now more than two weeks since the last shower, and that was not much in this region. For a great portion of the time the heat has been exceedingly oppressive, and for the last three or four days absolutely dangerous. The shadiest places have shown a mid-day heat averaging nearly 95°, with a clear sky, no wind, and a blistering sun. Vegetation that should be green is scorched and shriveled up; the dust is unbydrous and unpalatable, pervading the air like a thin mist; manual labor is difficult and in some callings impossible, and city and country are alike intolerable. As we write this, at 11 o'clock on Sunday night, there is temporary relief in a gentle breeze, and the mercury, which was up to 98° in our editorial rooms at 4 p. m., is down to 80°. The sky is overcast, and there is a very faint promise of the much-needed rain. It cannot come a moment too soon.

From the Newark Advertiser, July 21

Rain! Rain!—Give us rain is the cry of the farmers throughout this section of the State.—The crops are dying for the want of moisture, and the farmers of Passaic county say that unless they have rain within a week, their corn will be ruined and hardly fit for the cattle. Everything is drying up, the ground is parched, and still, day after day, the sky bears the same brazen look, and the cooling, refreshing rain is withheld. The roads are dusty, the streams are shriveled, the grass is burned, and everything is dry, and absolutely perishing for want of a good day's rain. The drought has now continued for nearly five weeks and still there is no appearance of rain.

The vegetable crops throughout lower and West Jersey are also suffering very much from the want of rain. The hot sun penetrating the sandy soil, renders the heat so intense that the potatoe and other vegetables are nearly roasted. Unless copious showers are soon experienced, farmers say that not only the early but fall crops will be absolutely ruined.

From the Baltimore Patriot, July 25th.

The Crops of the Middle States—Deficiency of Fruits and Vegetables.—The severity of the past winter in connection with the prolonged drought is curtailing very seriously in the Middle States the prospect of the farmers. The hay crop is known to have been short; the oats have been dwarfed; the corn scarcely gives promise of even a medium product; garden vegetables are becoming scarcer every day, and all the varieties of fruit may said to be almost an entire failure.—The wheat harvest alone proved respectable, but even this cannot begin to make up the deficiency in potatoes and corn. What the results of the season will prove in other sections of the Union, we are not yet prepared to say. In Maryland, agricultural products, taken as a whole, will fall far behind the usual average.

Papers in Western New York and throughout New England talk in the same strain. We hear like complaints from Michigan, Illinois and the Southern portions of our own State. In this vicinity and North and West of us, the rains have been more abundant and the crops of all kinds promise finely.

Death of Esquire Ogden.—A. Ogden, Esq., died last night, from the accident received by him some four weeks ago, at the depot. It will be remembered that a car ran over him, crossing his leg, but not breaking it. He has since lain in a constant state of apparent unconsciousness. Last night he died without a struggle.—Madison Democrat.

Brooks and Burlingame Difficulty.

Washington, July 27.

The following documents will appear in the Intelligencer of Monday:

The publication of the Hon. P. S. Brooks, in the Union of the 23d instant, with the note of his friend, Gen. Lane, appended, in which my name is mentioned, will, I hope, excuse me in presenting the following statement of facts in reference to my connection with the subject it discusses.

On the 21st instant, about 7 o'clock p. m., meeting the Hon. Mr. Burlingame on Pennsylvania Avenue, he placed in my hand the following note, and requested me to act as his friend and adviser, first assuring me that he had decided to accede to the request it contained:

Washington, July 21, 1856.

Sir: Will you do me the kindness to indicate some place outside of this district where it will be convenient to you to negotiate in reference to the difference between us?

Very respectfully, &c.,
P. S. BROOKS.

Hon. A. Burlingame.

No hostile meeting was proposed by the note, and I agreed to render the desired service. Having reason to suspect from the circumstances connected with the case, from rumors I had heard, and from my knowledge of schemes that are sometimes resorted to in regard to such matters in Washington, that meddling persons might seek to tarnish Mr. Burlingame's reputation by an arrest, I advised him to leave the street immediately, which he did, and to prepare to absent himself from the District.

At 8 o'clock he met me at a private room by appointment. The following reply was prepared, and I was instructed to deliver it to Colonel Brooks, in person, as soon as he could be found—this being deemed the proper course, because he had not named in his note any person authorised to receive it:

Washington, July 21, 1856.

Sir: Your note of this date was placed in my hands by Gen. Lane, this afternoon. In reply, I have to say that I will be at the Clifton House, on the Canada side of Niagara Falls, on Saturday next, at 12 o'clock m., to "negotiate" in reference to any "difference between us," which, in your judgement, may require settlement "outside of this District."

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,
A. BURLINGAME.

Hon. P. S. Brooks.

Washington, July 26, 1856.

My Dear Sir: In view of the unexpected publicity which Col. Brooks has given to his "difference" with you, in which he has complicated my name, I deem it proper, in closing my connection with the affair, to place in your hands the inclosed statements of facts. You are at liberty to make such use of it as you may deem proper.

I am, my dear sir,
Very truly yours, &c.,
LEWIS CAMPBELL.

Hon. A. Burlingame.

I took a carriage at 9 o'clock, and sought for Col. Brooks, with a view to deliver the reply to him. Failing to find him at his lodgings, I looked for him unsuccessfully at the hotels until 11 o'clock, Mr. Burlingame having expressed great anxiety that his note should be delivered immediately. I then repaired to the residence of Gen. Lane, and found him entertaining visitors. As soon as his company left, I wrote, at his table, the following note, explanatory of my reasons for delivering to him Mr. Burlingame's reply to Col. Brooks:

Washington, July 21, 1856.

My Dear Sir: This evening, about 8 o'clock, the Hon. A. Burlingame handed me the inclosed note to be delivered to Col. Brooks. Failing to find the Colonel, after calling twice at his lodgings, I deem it proper to place it in your hands, and to ask that you deliver it to him. I would have called on you with the reply to Mr. Burlingame, but for the fact that your name is not mentioned in the note of Col. Brooks.

Very truly yours, &c.,
LEWIS CAMPBELL.

Hon. Jos. Lane, Washington.

This note, and Mr. Burlingame's reply, were delivered, unsealed, to Gen. Lane, who read them both at my request. Our interview was brief. He spoke off the point named (Clifton House) as inconvenient, and desired to know, in the event of their going there, what kind of weapons were to be used. I replied to this that I regarded the note of Mr. Burlingame as legitimately and fully responsive to that of Mr. Brooks, and that I declined any negotiation, at that time, having reference to weapons, as premature.

It is due to Gen. Lane to say that he has to-day informed me that he derived the impression from my remarks in regard to weapons, &c., that I was not then authorized to fix upon terms for a hostile meeting, and that he so informed Col. Brooks. I informed him that Mr. Burlingame, acting under my advice, could not be seen in the District, but that I could be found at my lodgings, or at my seat in the House, and would receive and deliver to him any communication touching the subject matter of the correspondence. After a few suggestions, in which we mutually concurred, as to the propriety of keeping the affair from the public, we separated—Gen. Lane saying if, after an interview with Col. Brooks, he (Col. B.) deemed any communication necessary in the premises, it would be handed to me on the next day.

The foregoing statement as to what occurred between Gen. Lane and myself, has been examined by him, and admitted to be substantially correct.

At 12 o'clock I reported the facts to Mr. Burlingame, and he immediately left the District in a private conveyance, accompanied by Mr. James of Wisconsin. I was either at my lodgings or at my desk in the House during the whole of the next day, the 22d. No communication from the parties, verbal or written, was made to me, and I was surprised at the dinner table of the hotel that day when I heard a friend of Mr. Brooks publicly state the contents of the correspondence. On the morning of the following day, the 23d, The Union newspaper contained the publication of Mr. Brooks, embracing his note and reply, with the statement of Gen. Lane appended, in which the place of meeting was declared absurd, and the insinuation made that his arrest was the result of the conduct of Mr. Burlingame's friends. It is not improper here to say that no information was given to me by Mr. Brooks or his friends of a desire to publish the correspondence, nor that the place designated was objectionable to him, except verbally by Gen. Lane in the interview mentioned, prior to his publication in The Union.

Up to the present hour I have learned nothing from Mr. Brooks or his friends (outside of newspaper publication), except on the 24th inst., when, on inquiry of Gen. Lane, I was told that Col. Brooks would not be at Niagara Falls to-day, to meet the appointment suggested by Mr. Burlingame. I therefore took measures to have Mr. Burlingame return to his seat in the House, having previously published in The Union of that day (24th), in his absence, the Card asking a suspension of public opinion until Mr. Burlingame's return to Washington.

These are the material facts in the case so far as they are embraced within my knowledge, with the interviews, conversations, writings, explanations, cards, &c., of the parties and their friends.

Prior to 7 o'clock of the 21st inst. I have had no connection, direct or indirect. For the contents of the note of Mr. Burlingame in reply to that of Mr. Brooks, especially that portion designating a time and place "for a meeting," to "negotiate," &c., as well as for his bearing as a gentleman in every respect from that time to this, I am accountable. Mr. Brooks had requested a time and place to be named outside of this District, convenient to Mr. Burlingame. Not aware of any courtesy which required me to consult the wishes of Col. Brooks or his friends on that point, it was settled without any conference with them. If this justifies complaint, the error is mine. It is proper to say that the suggestion of the "Clifton House on the Canada side of the Niagara Falls" as the place was presented by me to Mr. Burlingame. At first he disapproved of it, and added, with some feeling, that if Mr. Brooks was anxious to meet him to "negotiate, &c.," he would, if necessary, go even to South Carolina. I insisted on the time and place I had named, saying to Mr. Burlingame that if I was to be his adviser, he must be governed by my counsel, and that "I would be responsible for my decision." Mr. Burlingame then acquiesced, stating that if a communication was presented to me objecting to the time or place in his absence, I should change either or both at my discretion. I deem a knowledge of the facts on this point alike due to Mr. Burlingame and myself in view of the unexpected publicity which Col. Brooks has given to the matter through the press.

From the spirit of Col. Brooks' note I was induced to hope that no hostile action would result from the meeting which he invited. I believed that the retired place I had designated, being accessible by one day's travel, in a cool, healthful, and magnificently-picturesque region, remote from the excitement of metropolitan life, would be far more appropriate in the hot season than any point in the region of the District of Columbia. But Mr. Brooks seems to set out with the assumption that his note was in spirit, if not in form, a hostile message, or in other words, a challenge. What right had I, in this view of the matter, to drive the challenged party outside of the District? If the answer be to evade the laws of our country, then that answer admits the place to have been well chosen, because there is no State North or South, in which the laws do not prohibit such hostile meetings under heavy penalties. After assuming that the note was a challenge, he says that he could not reach the Falls of Niagara without running the gauntlet of mobs, assassins, prisons and penitentiaries, bailiffs and constables. It appears by the note of Gen. Lane to him that he had informed Mr. Burlingame at the outset, that he had the right of selecting the place for the meeting, &c., and yet after it was chosen, he objected to it on the ground that it was "too far distant," and would subject Mr. Brooks "to so many hazards of arrest," and therefore advised him "to take no further notice of the matter." I will not stigmatize the people Southward as "mobs," "assassins," etc., but in behalf of the people between this point and Niagara Falls, I assert Col. Brooks would have been quite as secure North of Mason's and Dixon's Line as Mr. Burlingame would have been South of it. I know nothing of the rules of chivalry except what nature has taught me, nor have I studied, nor will I ever waste time in studying the matter of the Code Duello; but as my action in the premises seems to be rebuked, I leave the parties to show the "authorities" to justify their propositions. First, that the challenging party may, in his message make any restriction either as to the time or place of meeting. Second, that in selecting the place, the challenged party is circumscribed, geographically, by any precise latitude or longitude. Third, when the place is fixed by the party entitled to the selection, the challenger may retire from the field on his objections to distance, if within one day's travel, or from fear of "bailiffs and constables." Fourth, that under mutual agreement, not to give publicity, one party is authorized to publish the affair through the press, without the knowledge or consent of the other.

My complicity in this affair was induced solely by private friendship, and the hope that I might be instrumental, in some humble way, in restoring amicable relations between the parties.

I now dismiss the whole matter, as far as may be possible, from my mind forever, consoled by the reflection, that whatever may have been my errors in the premises, no brother's blood has been shed or life sacrificed, by reason of any act of mine.

LEWIS D. CAMPBELL.
Washington, D. C., July 26, 1856.

Mr. Burlingame accompanies this card of Mr. Campbell's with an elaborate statement of his own, from which we extract the concluding portion. It tells its own story and fairly pillories Brooks:

Of the conduct of Mr. Brooks in this affair I can scarcely trust myself to write. I owe it to truth to say that, from what I had heard and seen of him prior to his assault on Mr. Sumner, I had formed a high opinion of him, and that act, which I have properly stigmatized, I did think must have been abhorrent to his better nature. In remembrance of my opinion of him, and feeling that through his conduct I could still detect traces of a gallantry which some day might cause him to condemn, as heartily as others do, his assault on Mr. Sumner, I had a larger charity for him than did most of my friends. Indeed I have been blamed for intimating the opinion that in spite of that act, he was yet a brave man, even as late as my conversation with Gen. Lane. When he stated that Mr. Brooks desired a speedy meeting, I felt a glow of admiration for him as a gallant foeman; but I was wrong. The expressions of kindness for him, in which, following a proclivity of my heart, I had indulged were entirely misplaced. Out of regard for his feelings, inasmuch as he was so tender of mine, I will abstain from any further expression of my opinion, but leave men of honor to determine his position in view of his own conduct.

In response to his numerous insinuations, let him take my reasons. Why did he linger in the district where he was exposed to arrest? The intimation that my friends arrested him is unworthy even of him. I do not know the man who did it. The dearest friends I had could get no clue from me of the affair. I thought Mr. Brooks was in earnest, and prepared to meet him sternly without fail. If he was afraid to go to Canada, the nearest neutral ground, why did not name some other place? Was I not equally with himself exposed to the hazard of a foreign jurisdiction? He could have reached the place of meeting in a few hours, keeping the most of the way in the states of Maryland and Pennsylvania; but this he deemed "the enemy's country."—Where is a friend's country for me? Is it here, where my comrades are smitten down without warning? Here, where to make the defence of free speech effectual, I, against my early teachings, and the deep-seated sentiments of my people, have been driven, that I might secure a lit the fair play, and an approach to an equal chance, to go to the field even with Mr. Brooks? I think Mr. Brooks should not have based so many anticipations of danger to himself, on the possibility of my falling. I have not heard that anybody who had fair play ever fell before that man whose single blow in the House its owner thought would have brought on a revolution.

It would have been a happy circumstance for me had I shown half as much regard for my reputation as our "gallant" friend did for his life. Then my name would not have been linked with one whose adroitness in getting out of difficulty is only equaled by his shrewdness in securing from an unsuspecting man what he tried to construe into an indorsement of his courage. I can indorse it no longer, and now give him full notice. It is kind of Mr. Brooks to hand me over to the reprobation of men, and then to propose to admit me to the position of a gentleman, provided I would challenge him. He seems to have forgotten how in his card he had just stated it was said of me that I would not send although I would accept a challenge. If I cannot hereafter praise the gentleman's courage, I can commend his prudence. This is revealed to us in the fact that, without seeking another place of meeting, he rushes into print in such a way as to make me forget my triumph in the shame I feel in the conduct of my antagonist. As if suspecting that I might change the place, he closes the door against it by stating that he should have no further demands upon me. I now dismiss as far as I can, the ex member from South Carolina from my mind. Self respect requires me to say that I can never again recognize save to do him a kindness, if it should be in my power, Preston S. Brooks. I hand him over to that public, North and South, which is ever scornful of those who boast much and perform little. And now, I hereby submit myself to the public whose convictions I fear I have invaded. I pray them to remember that forgiveness is a higher quality than justice.

I cast myself on their generous hearts, which are always tender, and always loving. Let them not forget when passing on my conduct the sneers I have seen and the taunts I have heard. How the old State we all love has been insulted, and her cherished Senator stricken down, and how he yet lingers in almost helpless illness. As you of my own State remember these things, you will not entirely blame me if, in a moment of indignation, I was willing to stand up at the hazard of my life, and what is dearer than life—for the insulted honor of those who have always been kind to me. I am no duelist. I seek no man's life. I have but acted in the spirit of the speech I made when I said that, if pushed too long and too far, there were men from the Old Bay State who would defend her honor and the freedom of speech in whatever field they might be assailed. My course became to me a defense of Liberty against Slavery, and a struggle for freedom of speech against freedom of the bludgeon; and the only way which seemed to be left us here, by which we could defend ourselves.

A. BURLINGAME.
Washington, July 28, 1856.

The Commerce of the Lakes.—The Cleveland Herald condenses from the report of the committee on commerce, a large number of important facts connected with the commerce of the Lakes. From this report it appears that the increase of Lake tunnage for the year ending June 30, 1855, was a fraction less than nineteen per cent.

A greater amount of tunnage enters and clears on the Lakes between the United States and Canada, than between the United States and any other foreign port.

The Lake tunnage for 1855 was 345,000 tons, which, valued at $45 per ton, is $14,858,000.

The present value of Lake commerce (exclusive of Presque Isle and Mackinac, and reported,) is $608,310,320.

The value of property exposed to perils of Lake navigation, is greater than all the merchandise exported from the United States to all foreign countries, or imported from all foreign countries to the United States.

The seven Lake States—New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin,—have a population of 9,784,550, while the other 24 States have a population of 9,768,188, leaving a balance in favor of these seven States over the twenty-four States, of over 16,000.—This difference is increasing daily. Verily in point of numbers there is a North-West, and it is making back bone every day.

The value of vessels shipwrecked in eight years was $8,852,064.

Damages sustained by vessels for 1854 by St. Clair Flats, $660,146 56.

From 1837 to 1855 there has been collected for revenue on the Lakes, $6,511,129 98. Congress in the same time has appropriated for Lake Harbors $2,884,126, leaving a balance in the U. S. Treasury, as received from Lake commerce, over and above what has been taken from the Treasury to benefit the Lakes, the handsome sum of $2,627,004 98. Deduct the cost and expenses of the lake light houses for the same time, and the Treasury still has a balance of over $1,000,000.

Large Sales of Corn.—The Chicago Democrat of yesterday says: There was considerable of a flurry in the corn market yesterday, and large quantities changed hands. The day before it was dull at 44 cents, but yesterday from 150,000 to 160,000 bushels changed hands at 45c, and some dealers held for 50.

Brooks' Canada Song.

To Canada Brooks was asked to go,
To waste of powder a pound or so,
He sighed as he answered, No, no, no,
They might take my life on the way you know.
For I am afraid, afraid, afraid.
Bully Brooks is afraid.

Those Jersey railroads I can't abide,
'Tis a dangerous thing in a train to ride.
Each brakeman carries a knife by his side,
They'd cut my throat, and they'd cut it wide,
And I am afraid, afraid, afraid.
Bully Brooks is afraid.

There are savages haunting New York Bay,
To murder strangers that pass that way;
The Quaker Garrison keeps them in pay,
And they kill at least a score a day.
And I am afraid, afraid, afraid.
Bully Brooks is afraid.

Beyond New York, in every car,
They keep a supply of feathers and tar;
They daub it on with an iron bar,
And I should be smothered ere I got far
For I am afraid, afraid, afraid.
Bully Brooks is afraid.

Those dreadful Yankees talk through their nose;
The sound is terrible, goodness knows;
And, when I hear it, a shiver goes
From the crown of my head to the tip of my toes.
For I am afraid, afraid, afraid.
Bully Brooks is afraid.

So, dearest Mr. Burlingame,
I'll stay at home, if 'tis all the same,
And I'll tell the world 'twas a burning shame
That we did not fight and you're to blame.
For I am afraid, afraid, afraid.
Bully Brooks is afraid.

Touching Incident.—A fair-haired, bright beautiful girl, between the age of four or five years, belonging to Mr. Winchester, who resides at Powell's Mills on the Kinnikinnic, wandered from her home one day last week, and happening to be missed, search was made for her, and when found she was at the edge of the mill pond, drowned. She had gathered a beautiful boquet of the wild flowers which grow so luxuriantly here on the banks, and they were clasped tightly in her right hand; her little body was lifted out, life had fled, but the flowers were not removed from her grasp, and when she was laid upon her last resting place, her hands were crossed over her breast with the flowers resting there, fit emblem of the pure spirit which had fled from the tenement around which friends were mourning.—Hudson North Star, July 28.

A Buchanan Know Nothing Elector.

Ripon, July 26, 1856.

To the Editor of the Atlas.

Sir. I desire to inform your readers, and the German population generally, through the medium of your columns, of one significant fact, in connection with the pending political contest; it is: One of the five electors on the Buchanan ticket resides in this town, Henry G. Webb by name; and this Henry G. Webb is a member and an officer in a little one horse Know Nothing Lodge which meets every week. There is no mistake about this. It will probably not be denied, but if it is denied, it shall be proved beyond the possibility of a doubt. What say the Germans to it? Are they satisfied with this union of Democracy and Know Nothingism in the person of a Buchanan elector.

☞ The Wheat Harvest, we are happy to learn, is progressing handsomely in this County. The crop of Winter Wheat is a very heavy one. Spring wheat looks exceedingly promising, corn never looked so well, and other grains promise an abundant yield. The haymakers say the yield of grass is better than has been known for years. Vegetables are doing well. The farmers are predicting very prosperous times.—Appleton Crescent, July 26.

University of Milwaukee.

THE ANNUAL COLLEGIATE EXERCISES of this Institution will take place on this, Thursday, evening, the 31st inst., at 7½ o'clock, in the First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Mr Spees.

The exercises will consist of a series of Addresses, selected and original, by the Students of the University, interspersed with appropriate music, and at the close prizes will be awarded to the successful competitors in declamation.

The Trustees are requested to meet in the Study, in the rear of the Church, at 7¼ o'clock, inorder to proceed in a body to the Church. A full and punctual attendance is requested.

The clergy of the city and other literary gentlemen are invited to be present, and seats will be reserved for their accommodation.

☞ Children, and young persons not connected with the Institution, must be accompanied by their parents and guardians, in order to obtain admission. jy31-1t

FOR ELECTORS,
State at Large { EDWARD D. HOLTON. TIMOTHY O. HOWE.

"I REPEAT THAT I NEVER CAN AND NEVER WILL VOTE, AND NO EARTHLY POWER WILL EVER MAKE ME VOTE, TO SPREAD SLAVERY OVER TERRITORY WHERE IT DOES NOT EXIST."—Henry Clay.

"The [illegible] of the North have a deep interest in keeping labor free, [illegible] free, in the new territories. * * * * * I have made up my mind, for one, that, under no circumstances, will I consent to the further extension of the area of slavery in the United States, or to the further increase of Slave representation in the House of Representatives."—Daniel Webster.

"I heartily concur in all movements which have for their object to repair the mischief arising from the violation of good faith in the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. I am opposed to Slavery in the abstract, and upon principle, sustained and made habitual by long settled conviction. While I feel inflexibly in the belief that it ought not to be interfered with where it exists under the shield of State sovereignty, I am as inflexibly opposed to its extension on this continent beyond its present limits."—John C. Fremont.

"FREE LABOR—THE NATURAL CAPITAL WHICH CONSTITUTES THE REAL WEALTH OF THIS GREAT COUNTRY, AND CREATES THAT INTELLIGENT POWER IN THE MASSES ALONE TO BE RELIED ON AS THE BULWARK OF FREE INSTITUTIONS."—John C. Fremont's Letter of Acceptance.

The "Sentinel" for the Campaign.

As many persons may be desirous to obtain the Sentinel for the Campaign, without ordering it for the full term of a year, we publish the following rates, at which we will send one or more copies of our several editions, from July 15th to December 1st. As the Election occurs Nov. 4th, this ought, in these days of telegraphs, to enable us to give the result in all of the States of the Union except California, in the last number.

Daily, ...	$2 50
Tri-Weekly, ...	1 25
Weekly, ...	37½

The above rates for the Daily and Tri-Weekly are somewhat less than our regular terms. For the Weekly they are the same as $1 per year. Circulate the Documents.

Buchanan Meeting.—The Buchanan men held a meeting at the Market House, last evening. Notwithstanding the efforts made to draw a crowd, by the help of cannon, music, placards and so forth, there were not over three or four hundred persons in the Hall. The meeting having been organized, the invitation of the Fremont Club, to hold a public discussion, was read and referred to the Executive Committee. Mr. James S. Brown then took the stand, and spoke at some length in behalf of Mr. Buchanan and the Sham Democracy. The speech did not do justice to Mr. Brown's talents, the cause weighing down the advocate. One remarkable statement, however, deserves notice. Mr. Brown insisted that the resolution endorsing Pierce, adopted by the Cincinnati Convention, was passed by Mr. Buchanan's friends, on purpose to injure him, and he cited Mr. Benton to prove the fact. Dr. Hertschmann followed Mr. Brown in a speech to his German fellow-citizens. The Doctor, as in duty bound, stood up for the Administration under which he holds a fat office. He did not seem to agree with Mr. Brown in the idea that the resolution endorsing Pierce was passed by the Cincinnati Convention, purposely to damage Buchanan. Upon the whole, the meeting did not seem to be a very profitable one.

But the South is willing to submit to the decision of the people, which is virtually giving up the extension of slavery, as the North can send ten men to any new State, where the South can send one. Yet there are fanatics who object to accepting this arrangement, merely because they want power, not because they care for freedom.—News of Yesterday.

Was that the reason which induced the editor of the News, in 1848, to go in so strongly for Free Soil and against Slavery extension? Then, there was no practical result immediately in issue. Yet the News editor adopted the Buffalo Platform, supported Mr. Van Buren, and "shrieked for Freedom" as earnestly as any "Black Republican," or "Woolly-Headed Abolitionist!" Is it possible that the "sop" of a fat office from Uncle Sam can have converted this "Free Soiler" of 1848 into the Buchaneer and Pro-Slavery man of 1856? And that too when the great practical issue of the campaign and of the day is, shall we set limits to Slavery, or permit its black and withering shadow to overspread Kansas, Nebraska, Utah, New Mexico and Lower California?

Herbert at Cincinnati.—The Buchanan prints have strenuously denied that the murderer Herbert took part in the Convention which nominated Buchanan and Breckinridge. We have already quoted from the Janesville Standard, the editor of which was in attendance at the Cincinnati Convention, to prove that Herbert was there. Here is evidence to the same effect from the Cincinnati Gazette of the 25th inst:

We have not by us at present the means of ascertaining whether Herbert was regularly appointed a delegate by the Democrats of California, to represent them in the Cincinnati Convention, but we do know that he was present during the session of the Convention, sat with the California delegation, and appeared to have as much to do with their proceedings as any other delegate.

The Germans in Kentucky.—The Louisville Journal says that, the vote of the German population of Kentucky is estimated at 10,000. This vote has hitherto been given to the Democratic party, but nearly the whole of it will now go to the support of the Fremont ticket. In 1854, the Free German Republicans of the State held a Convention in Louisville, and adopted an ultra anti-slavery platform.

The same is true of the Germans in Texas, Kansas, Missouri, &c. They are for Free Lands, Free Labor and Fremont. Can their more fortunate countrymen, who live in Free States, refuse to stand with them in this contest?

Canadian Harvest.—The Hamilton Banner, of July 25th, says the wheat harvest is now general throughout the adjoining counties, farmers being anxious to take advantage of the fine weather. The crop promises to be a full average one, and another week of such weather will see it harvested in good condition. Other grains and roots want rain badly.

The Toronto Globe is informed that the wheat crop in the county of Peel is very superior. Mr. George Wright, of Brampton, has one hundred acres all under wheat, which is calculated to yield thirty bushels per acre. Reaping has commenced with a number of farmers. The other crops promise well.

The "Atlas" for the Campaign.

The Atlas, the German Republican paper published in this city, will be furnished to subscribers, for the next three months at the low price of Fifty Cents per copy. Friends of the good cause! Supporters of Freedom and Fremont!—See that copies of this staunch Republican paper are circulated among the German voters in your several Districts. The Atlas is published twice a week. Send in your subscriptions!

Bully Brooks at the South.

Mr Brooks, finding himself sustained by the undivided Southern vote and the entire Buchanan strength (with six exceptions) in the House of Representatives, now appeals to his South Carolina constituents to re-elect him. His card appears in the Columbia (S. C.) Banner of July 22d. We quote two paragraphs:

But a majority of the House has pronounced me, because of my act, unworthy of a seat in the American Congress. I could not, as the representative of a high-toned and gallant constituency, rest with this imputation upon you and myself. I resigned my seat, and kicking the black dust of a Black Republican majority from my feet, I left the Hall in indignation and disgust.

My appeal is to you. If I have represented you faithfully, then select me with an unanimity which will thunder into the ears of fanaticism the terrors of the storm that is coming upon them. If in aught I have failed to represent you as you are, then, in God's name, send some man whose blood is more sluggish than mine.

The South Carolina papers anticipate that Brooks will be re-elected, not only without opposition, but be a very heavy vote. No doubt of it. The South clearly approves of his ruffianism, and would gladly see the same law of force applied to every man who dares to speak out against Slavery. So, too, would they deal by every Free-speaking Press; and in Mr. Buchanan they have a very congenial candidate, since, as Senator, he voted to purge the mail of all "Abolition Documents!" The vote of the Buchanan members of Congress, sustaining Bully Brooks, was a faithful reflex of this act of their Presidential nominee.

The Charleston Mercury, the leading Pro-Slavery and Buchanan organ of South Carolina, has the following comment upon the Brooks case:

"In the next place, it has contributed greatly to the union of Southern men in Congress. We do not remember any act which has been so generally approved, from Maryland to Texas, as Mr. Sumner's castigation. This unanimity of sentiment in the people has re-acted upon their representatives at Washington; and on the other hand, the furious denunciations in every quarter of the North, have developed the same feeling of unanimity among Northern representatives; and the result is, that lines of sectionalism have been drawn deeper than ever before, to the disgust of party hacks, and the satisfaction of true men in the South. We rejoice at any event which makes common cause at the South, and foreshadows her destiny as a separate and independent people."

This being a "Democratic" sentiment, of course there is nothing "sectional" about it. But what a hue and cry the Buchaneer Press would raise if a Republican paper should give utterance to such language!

Sparta, Monroe County.—The Western Times (published at Viroqua, Bad Ax County) gives the following account of the village of Sparta, Monroe County:

This village took us by surprise the other day. We did not expect to find a place of more than 200 or 300 people, just starting into life. But instead of that we found a place of 1,000 inhabitants, going ahead in fine style. The buildings are nearly all new, and about fifty more are building. They have 3 hotels, 15 or 20 stores, 2 land offices, a printing office, and most all kinds of mechanics to match. There is a good water power, and they have already one sawmill in operation. We called at the office of the Sparta Watchman, and had a pleasant chit chat, with both the Editor and Printer of the establishment. It argues well for Sparta and the people of the county, that their newspaper is well sustained.

Munchausen Again.—The Beaver Dam Republican continues to distinguish itself in the realms of fiction. Here are its latest inventions, in regard to Col. Fremont:

He has swindled the State of California out of one hundred thousand dollars interest money. He has joined a Know Nothing Club to suit the Americans, and became a Roman Catholic to suit the foreigners. He has bought and sold slaves, members of Congress, and newspapers, and assaulted a member of the U. S. Senate, with a malicious intent, and in the genuine spirit of a Border Ruffian.

We wonder how many of its readers the Republican expects to gull with such absurd and barefaced falsehoods?

Sad Sent Isaac.—Mrs. Partington was unable to accept the polite invitation to attend the Buchanan barbecue at Burrillville, R. I., but she sent "Ike," her grandson, with the following banner of her own device and manufacture:

"Brook-cane 'em,
and
Breaking heads,
and the
Sin-sin naughty platform."

For Congress.—In the First District, the Democrats will probably re-nominate and elect the present able member, Hon. Daniel Wells, Jr. —Madison Patriot.

Not if the Barstow Democracy can prevent it. They are down on Daniel, and in for Counsellor Sanford, of Racine, or Alderman Hadley, of Milwaukee.

Hiss for Fremont.—Mr. Joseph Hiss has turned up again. He is a supporter of Fremont and "Americanism," and has been chosen a delegate to the State Convention of the Fremonters from the First Ward of Boston.—Madison Patriot.

False, of course. He is a K. N. and supports, primarily, Fillmore and next Buchanan. Between these two he has little choice, but he is utterly opposed to Fremont.

The Accident to the Empire State.—The Empire State, of the Fall River line, with 225 passengers on board, exploded her steam-chest while rounding Point Judith on Saturday night last. By this accident eleven persons lost their lives, and twelve others were more or less injured. Of those fatally hurt 6 were attached to the boat and 5 were passengers.

The Wisconsin Democracy.—But for the midnight deeds, black, hideous and foul, which for the last two years have been transacted in its name, by a few prominent out casts, the Democratic party of this State could march to victory in the present contest, by virtue of its own inherent strength. Now it requires the hard fought battle, the thorough discipline, and the entire repudiation of those who, instead of blighting the course, should have been a tower of strength in every conflict with the foe.—Madison Patriot.

When is this "repudiation" to begin? Thus far the very men implicated in the "black, hideous and foul" deeds of which the Patriot speaks, have assumed to lead the Democratic forces in this State; are prominent at all the Buchanan gatherings, and have already parcelled out the nominations, offices, &c., for the fall.

The Counsel for Matt Ward.—There is a strong feeling of opposition to Breckinridge in Kentucky, growing out of the trial of Matt Ward, the murderer of the schoolmaster at Louisville. It will be remembered that Breckinridge was one of the "distinguished counsel" who volunteered to quit his post at Washington to go and screen the rich and guilty assassin from punishment.

M. & M. Railroad—Muscoda and Boscobel. —McDonald, the chief contractor of the M. & M. Railroad Company for the unfinished section as far as Boscobel, has given notice of his fixed purpose to complete the entire work thus far ready for the cars early in October. McDonald is understood to be a man not gassy but prompt in complying with all his promises, unforeseen accidents excepted. The news is causing a brisk stir at Muscoda and Boscobel, the points more chiefly interested. Each place is erecting a steam saw mill; and several taverns, stores, machine shops, &c., are going up in anticipation of the event. We notice that many are visiting Boscobel, to see what is there; we advise persons to look well to the surrounding country for twenty or thirty miles—see the routes for roads thereto, whether the place is easy of access from every point of the compass and quartering point; notice the water power, timber, health, quality of soil, kind of inhabitants, whether ignorant or intelligent, enterprising or stupid, foolish or wise. All these are essential; open your eyes, stop your ears and think soundly after you have seen all around.

The prairie or bottom between Muscoda and Boscobel, distance some fifteen miles, and width of prairie one to two miles, is the most beautiful we ever saw. The Railroad passes through the middle of prairie, with plenty of room on either side for farms; nearly every eighty lot has a fair supply of timber and water; on the south is a boundary of hills, notched and scalloped—resembling a great curtain, and on the north flows the noble Wisconsin. All together, there is much beauty and great prospective wealth along this prairie.—Grant Co. Herald.

An Outfit for the Jordan and Dead Sea—Bethany and the Tomb of Lazarus—Mount Temptation—The ancient city of Jericho—The fleas and beggars of Rihah—The unseen damsel—A Theatrical Entertainment—A Race with the Arabs—The River Jordan—The Dead Sea—The Convent of San Saba—Bethlehem and its Holy Places.

As I have before intimated, every traveller that makes this trip is led to believe before he starts that it is fraught with danger at every footstep. There is a constant attempt to keep up this feeling, from the Pasha down to the lowest Mooler, who performs in the country the important functions of hostler. When we left the Arab village to go to the Jordan and Dead Sea we had a Shekh of some place accompany us. He was a Bedouin, dark and swarthy, with malicious snake-like eyes sunk deep in his head. He was well mounted, armed to the teeth, and over his head wore a large silk handkerchief fringed with tassels; this was confined close to the head, the tassels hanging over the shoulders, by a huge silk cord, full as large as a common bed cord, tied around the temples. Our guard walked and sometimes trotted about twenty rods ahead, and immediately in front rode this Bedouin Shekh. When we got within an hour's ride they all seemed to proceed with a great deal of caution, occasionally examining their guns and then looking ahead through the bushes as if they suspected the enemy lying in ambush.

Believing this to be all a farce, I spoke to Mr. M. and told him so, and if he would join me we would get by and ride on to the river. But he good-naturedly remarked that there was more fun in it to let them have their own way, and possibly less danger. Mr. G. said he would join me if I chose. He is a small man, but brim full of courage, although brought up by Quaker parents. As we had partly rode by the Shekh two or three times it had seemed to annoy him, so much so that he actually had showed much temper; we therefore expected some little trouble. Taking advantage of a level piece of ground where there were several tracks, we put our horses under full headway, and before the Shekh had time to intercept us we were past him. He however sang out to his men to stop us. One of them drew his sword and jumped into the path directly in front of my horse, and resenting this piece of impudence I put him into a complete run. In order to save being trampled under foot, the guard turned and run ahead with all his might, and the feet of an Arab are about as fleet as those of a horse. Being excited, I put spurs and whip to my horse until he seemed to fly with the swiftness of the wind, and while I expected his next bound would strike the man, the Arab dexterously jumped one side and saved himself. Hearing a shout behind me and the clattering of hoofs on the ground, on looking around I saw G. was coming under full headway, and before we could fairly get our horses stopped we were at the river. G. said one of the men sprang at his horse and caught him by the bridle, but being a very spirited animal and receiving a cut from the whip at the very moment, the force was sufficient to throw the Arab head long out to one side of the road. This was an effectual remedy and it seemed to disappoint the Shekh as well as all his men, for we had evidently stolen their thunder, for during the balance of the trip we heard nothing more about danger.

The river Jordan is not very wide, but deep and rapid. The banks at the time we were there were full, and the water, discolored with yellowish mud, seemed to be rushing by with great force and speed. In no other respect does it materially differ from streams in our own country. The country along the valley was covered with a low undergrowth of brush, while the lofty mountains on both sides looked barren and desolate. Yet on the banks of the river there was a luxuriant growth of trees, now almost covered with verdure, in whose branches the birds were carrolling their first songs to spring. Among the trees I recognized as old acquaintances the popple, willow and white birch. Although the river even in its swollen state does not exceed ten rods in width, yet from its depth and impetuosity I have no doubt it discharges as much water as ten ordinary rivers of its size.

As this is the only spot where the mountains are so flattened down as to admit into, and from Eastern Arabia, there can be no doubt but what it is the identical place where the Israelites passed the Jordan on their journey from Egypt. It is also memorable as the locality where the baptism of Christ took place. For this reason the pilgrims come here in great numbers, as many as ten thousand in a body, to bathe in the sacred river. After staying an hour and filling our bottles to carry home, we washed our hands and faces, and then turned our direction toward the Dead Sea, distant two hours. After travelling half the way, we came to a dry, barren plain, destitute of all vegetation, with here and there a white spot of some rods in extent of discolored gravel, produced by the crystalization of salt from the atmosphere. The air was close, hot, and gave an unpleasant sensation to the lungs. The songs of birds had ceased too, and nothing was seen nor heard except our own voices and the reverberation of our horses hoofs as we galloped over the hard earth. The stillness of death reigned around, made more apparent by a thin vaporish veil of clouds that hung over the sea itself. At last we reached the shore and stood upon the beach. In a short time the sun came out, and the high, black mountains of Moab that skirt its eastern shore, threw their dark shadows over the water, and those also in the west, tho' less in size, yet more desolate in looks, were plainly visible. Between these two ranges, deep set, lies the Dead Sea, about thirty miles in extent from north to south, varying in width, nearly 4,000 feet below the City of Jerusalem, and more than 2,000 feet lower than the Mediterranean.

After landing, most of the company took a bath. I found, as I had before read, that the water is very heavy, salt and bitter. In swimming it required but little effort on account of its specific gravity being so great; one can lie on the surface with as little effort as on a featherbed. I experienced no unpleasant sensation, except in accidentally getting some of the water in my eyes. Every one should avoid this, because the pain is very acute. Reluctantly leaving what appears, not figuratively, but in reality, "the valley of the shadow of death," we slowly turned our horses heads towards the west, and commenced ascending the mountains towards the Greek Convent of San Saba. After passing over numerous barren mountains, through deep cavernous ravines, and occasionally winding around the shoulders of precipitous hills, over yawning gulphs, in order to gain some height, we at last arrived at what appeared to be a deep gorge between two high mountains. It was several hundred feet down to the bottom, and the walls, apparently, almost perpendicular. Along in the bottom and frequently in the sides where steps could be made down to them, would be seen holes cut into these stone heights, which have served for the abodes of hermits and monks. But I believe since they have ceased to be persecuted, these tenements have all been deserted. Following up this gorge, we reached, about sundown, the Convent, tired, way-worn and hungry.

When we rode up we presented quite the appearance of a small army, for there were about twenty of us altogether, and closing up one after another, we presented quite a cavalcade. I could not but help thinking of Europe in the middle ages, when the whole country was in possession of different clans whose chiefs maintained their rights by valor and their strongholds.—The convent of San Saba is more like a castle than anything else, being surrounded with impregnable walls, having towers, loop-holes and parapets. We had taken the precaution before we left Jerusalem to get a letter from the Greek Bishop to the brothers in the convent. When we knocked at the great gate a person appeared in one of the towers, some fifty feet from the ground, and soon we saw a basket being lowered. Into this our letter was dropped, and it was some little while we sat on our horses before the reply came, and the gate opened.

After dinner, as the main meal of the day is called all through this country, as well as in Europe, one of the priests showed us all over this wonderful pile of buildings, which has been in progress of building for the last five hundred years, although there are some portions of a much earlier date. The scenery around is grand and picturesque. According to tradition, but which the monks believe to be correct and true history, San Saba in A. D., 505, on a pilgrimage to Jordan, stopped at this spot over night in a cave—that during his sleep an angel appeared to him and told him he must build a monastery here.—When he awoke in the morning he looked around and found that there was no water and nothing to eat, for the mountains are rocky and barren for miles around. On his uttering these objections there immediately gushed forth from under a rock a fine fountain of living water, and there also miraculously appeared a gazelle. He immediately commenced erecting the convent. But the main part of the present building was commenced in 1309. There is at present residing there 46 monks. The chapel is very fine and has some excellent paintings. The tombs of the saint and a number of distinguished prelates of the church are pointed out. Among other things also a large stack of human bones of persons who suffered martyrdom some hundreds of years ago by the hands of the Mahometans in some of their persecutions of the Christians.

Several times during the night I awoke and always heard some of the monks at their devotions. I was informed there are a number there who had presented to the convent all their property after building themselves small simple habitations within the walls, and have spent long lives of humiliation and prayers. Some of them are very old, and others have long since been buried beneath their cells. After thanking the Superior of the convent for the kind hospitality we had received, not forgetting a generous present which always ought to be remembered, we took an early start and were on our way to Bethlehem. Our guard had disappeared, and we were not sorry to get rid of them, for their importunities for backsheesh the day before had become annoying.

Four hours ride over the mountains brought us in sight of Bethlehem, an old city in ruins on the top of a high hill, resembling some of the ancient Roman cities, having large fortress-like looking buildings, turreted walls and narrow, filthy streets. A short distance before getting there, however, we rode across a large wheat field, and passing through a stone gateway into a small enclosure, we approached an old dilapidated stone chapel, surrounded by a few Olive trees. On entering I found that it was merely the covering to a grotto, down into which we descended by a flight of stone steps. After hunting a long while for the key, an old monk came with it and some wax tapers. This is known as the spot where the Wise Men came to see the Infant Christ. A rude chapel is made out of it, containing some few commonplace pictures and carvings; but it was so damp and cold I was glad to get out into the light and warmth of day again.

All the pilgrims who visit Jerusalem also go to Bethlehem, the spot where Christ was born. This is called the place of the Nativity. Over it is built a large convent, divided off into three parts, for the Romans, the Greeks and Armenians. Feeling more at home with the former, we made our stay with them, and by them were taken down into the grotto and shown the holy places. Space will not allow me to go into particulars in describing this interesting place. But in brief it is very much like the holy sepulchre parceled off into different shrines and illuminated by light from lamps of gold which are always burning. All the rooms seemed to have been chambers hewn out of the solid rock. In one was the place where Our Savior was born—in another was where Joseph sat, and another was called the grotto of the innocents. Dark and narrow passages from these, through which we threaded our way, led us to different caves which have been occupied by learned divines and holy men at some of the early periods of the Christian era. Here were their pictures and portraits. In others were those of many of the martyrs. After spending two hours here we mounted our horses again and galloped over the hills towards Jerusalem.

F.

The Prevailing Drought.

Our exchanges for the past few days are full of complaints of the long continued dry weather and consequent unfavorable effects upon the growing crops. The evil seems to be a very serious one along the Atlantic sea-board, where a "heated term" of two, or three weeks duration, has aggravated the difficulty. We copy a few paragraphs in illustration:

From the N. Y. Tribune, July 28th.

The extended drought and intolerable heat have well nigh exhausted mortal endurance. It is now more than two weeks since the last shower, and that was not much in this region. For a great portion of the time the heat has been exceedingly oppressive, and for the last three or four days absolutely dangerous. The shadiest places have shown a mid-day heat averaging nearly 95°, with a clear sky, no wind, and a blistering sun. Vegetation that should be green is scorched and shriveled up; the dust is anhydrous and unpalatable, pervading the air like a thin mist; manual labor is difficult and in some callings impossible, and city and country are alike intolerable. As we write this, at 11 o'clock on Sunday night, there is temporary relief in a gentle breeze, and the mercury, which was up to 98° in our editorial rooms at 4 p. m., is down to 80°. The sky is overcast, and there is a very faint promise of the much-needed rain. It cannot come a moment too soon.

From the Newark Advertiser, July 21.

Rain! Rain!—Give us rain is the cry of the farmers throughout this section of the State.—The crops are dying for the want of moisture, and the farmers of Passaic county say that unless they have rain within a week, their corn will be ruined and hardly fit for the cattle. Everything is drying up, the ground is parched, and still, day after day, the sky bears the same brazen look, and the cooling, refreshing rain is withheld. The roads are dusty, the streams are shriveled, the grass is burned, and everything is dry, and absolutely perishing for want of a good day's rain. The drought has now continued for nearly five weeks and still there is no appearance of rain.

The vegetable crops throughout lower and West Jersey are also suffering very much from the want of rain. The hot sun penetrating the sandy soil, renders the heat so intense that the potatoe and other vegetables are nearly roasted. Unless copious showers are soon experienced, farmers say that not only the early but fall crops will be absolutely ruined.

From the Baltimore Patriot, July 25th.

The Crops of the Middle States—Deficiency of Fruits and Vegetables.—The severity of the past winter in connection with the prolonged drought is curtailing very seriously in the Middle States the prospect of the farmers. The hay crop is known to have been short; the oats have been dwarfed; the corn scarcely gives promise of even a medium product; garden vegetables are becoming scarcer every day, and all the varieties of fruit may said to be almost an entire failure.—The wheat harvest alone proved respectable, but even this cannot begin to make up the deficiency in potatoes and corn. What the results of the season will prove in other sections of the Union, we are not yet prepared to say. In Maryland, agricultural products, taken as a whole, will fall far behind the usual average.

Papers in Western New York and throughout New England talk in the same strain. We hear like complaints from Michigan, Illinois and the Southern portions of our own State. In this vicinity and North and West of us, the rains have been more abundant and the crops of all kinds promise finely.

Death of Esquire Ogden.—A. Ogden, Esq., died last night, from the accident received by him some four weeks ago, at the depot. It will be remembered that a car ran over him, crossing his leg, but not breaking it. He has since lain in a constant state of apparent unconsciousness. Last night he died without a struggle.—Madison Democrat.

Brooks and Burlingame Difficulty.

Washington, July 27.

The following documents will appear in the Intelligencer of Monday:

The publication of the Hon. P. S. Brooks, in the Union of the 23d instant, with the note of his friend, Gen. Lane, appended, in which my name is mentioned, will, I hope, excuse me in presenting the following statement of facts in reference to my connection with the subject it discusses.

On the 21st instant, about 7 o'clock p. m., meeting the Hon. Mr. Burlingame on Pennsylvania Avenue, he placed in my hand the following note, and requested me to act as his friend and adviser, first assuring me that he had decided to accede to the request it contained:

Washington, July 21, 1856.

Sir: Will you do me the kindness to indicate some place outside of this district where it will be convenient to you to negotiate in reference to the difference between us?

Very respectfully, &c.,
P. S. BROOKS.

Hon. A. Burlingame.

No hostile meeting was proposed by the note, and I agreed to render the desired service. Having reason to suspect from the circumstances connected with the case, from rumors I had heard, and from my knowledge of schemes that are sometimes resorted to in regard to such matters in Washington, that meddling persons might seek to tarnish Mr. Burlingame's reputation by an arrest, I advised him to leave the street immediately, which he did, and to prepare to absent himself from the District.

At 8 o'clock he met me at a private room by appointment. The following reply was prepared, and I was instructed to deliver it to Colonel Brooks, in person, as soon as he could be found—this being deemed the proper course, because he had not named in his note any person authorised to receive it:

Washington, July 21, 1856.

Sir: Your note of this date was placed in my hands by Gen. Lane, this afternoon. In reply, I have to say that I will be at the Clifton House, on the Canada side of Niagara Falls, on Saturday next, at 12 o'clock m., to "negotiate" in reference to any "difference between us," which, in your judgement, may require settlement "outside of this District."

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,
A. BURLINGAME.

Hon. P. S. Brooks.

Washington, July 26, 1856.

My Dear Sir: In view of the unexpected publicity which Col. Brooks has given to his "difference" with you, in which he has complicated my name, I deem it proper, in closing my connection with the affair, to place in your hands the inclosed statements of facts. You are at liberty to make such use of it as you may deem proper.

I am, my dear sir,
Very truly yours, &c.,
LEWIS CAMPBELL.

Hon. A. Burlingame.

I took a carriage at 9 o'clock, and sought for Col. Brooks, with a view to deliver the reply to him. Failing to find him at his lodgings, I looked for him unsuccessfully at the hotels until 11 o'clock, Mr. Burlingame having expressed great anxiety that his note should be delivered immediately. I then repaired to the residence of Gen. Lane, and found him entertaining visitors. As soon as his company left, I wrote, at his table, the following note, explanatory of my reasons for delivering to him Mr. Burlingame's reply to Col. Brooks:

Washington, July 21, 1856.

My Dear Sir: This evening, about 8 o'clock, the Hon. A. Burlingame handed me the inclosed note to be delivered to Col. Brooks. Failing to find the Colonel, after calling twice at his lodgings, I deem it proper to place it in your hands, and to ask that you deliver it to him. I would have called on you with the reply to Mr. Burlingame, but for the fact that your name is not mentioned in the note of Col. Brooks.

Very truly yours, &c.,
LEWIS CAMPBELL.

Hon. Jos. Lane, Washington.

This note, and Mr. Burlingame's reply, were delivered, unsealed, to Gen. Lane, who read them both at my request. Our interview was brief. He spoke of the point named (Clifton House) as inconvenient, and desired to know, in the event of their going there, what kind of weapons were to be used. I replied to this that I regarded the note of Mr. Burlingame as legitimately and fully responsive to that of Mr. Brooks, and that I declined any negotiation, at that time, having reference to weapons, as premature.

It is due to Gen. Lane to say that he has today informed me that he derived the impression from my remarks in regard to weapons, &c., that I was not then authorized to fix upon terms for a hostile meeting, and that he so informed Col. Brooks. I informed him that Mr. Burlingame, acting under my advice, could not be seen in the District, but that I could be found at my lodgings, or at my seat in the House, and would receive and deliver to him any communication touching the subject matter of the correspondence. After a few suggestions, in which we mutually concurred, as to the propriety of keeping the affair from the public, we separated—Gen. Lane saying if, after an interview with Col. Brooks, he (Col. B.) deemed any communication necessary in the premises, it would be handed to me on the next day.

The foregoing statement as to what occurred between Gen. Lane and myself, has been examined by him, and admitted to be substantially correct.

At 12 o'clock I reported the facts to Mr. Burlingame, and he immediately left the District in a private conveyance, accompanied by Mr. James of Wisconsin. I was either at my lodgings or at my desk in the House during the whole of the next day, the 22d. No communication from the parties, verbal or written, was made to me, and I was surprised at the dinner table of the hotel that day when I heard a friend of Mr. Brooks publicly state the contents of the correspondence. On the morning of the following day, the 23d, The Union newspaper contained the publication of Mr. Brooks, embracing his note and reply, with the statement of Gen. Lane appended, in which the place of meeting was declared absurd, and the insinuation made that his arrest was the result of the conduct of Mr. Burlingame's friends. It is not improper here to say that no information was given to me by Mr. Brooks or his friends of a desire to publish the correspondence, nor that the place designated was objectionable to him, except verbally by Gen. Lane in the interview mentioned, prior to his publication in The Union.

Up to the present hour I have learned nothing from Mr. Brooks or his friends (outside of newspaper publication), except on the 24th inst., when, on inquiry of Gen. Lane, I was told that Col. Brooks would not be at Niagara Falls today, to meet the appointment suggested by Mr. Burlingame. I therefore took measures to have Mr. Burlingame return to his seat in the House, having previously published in The Union of that day (24th), in his absence, the Card asking a suspension of public opinion until Mr. Burlingame's return to Washington.

These are the material facts in the case so far as they are embraced within my knowledge, with the interviews, conversations, writings, explanations, cards, &c., of the parties and their friends.

Prior to 7 o'clock of the 21st inst. I have had no connection, direct or indirect. For the contents of the note of Mr. Burlingame in reply to that of Mr. Brooks, especially that portion designating a time and place "for a meeting," to "negotiate," &c., as well as for his bearing as a gentleman in every respect from that time to this, I am accountable. Mr. Brooks had requested a time and place to be named outside of this District, convenient to Mr. Burlingame. Not aware of any courtesy which required me to consult the wishes of Col. Brooks or his friends on that point, it was settled without any conference with them. If this justifies complaint, the error is mine. It is proper to say that the suggestion of the "Clifton House on the Canada side of the Niagara Falls" as the place was presented by me to Mr. Burlingame. At first he disapproved of it, and added, with some feeling, that if Mr. Brooks was anxious to meet him to "negotiate, &c.," he would, if necessary, go even to South Carolina. I insisted on the time and place I had named, saying to Mr. Burlingame that if I was to be his adviser, he must be governed by my counsel, and that "I would be responsible for my decision." Mr. Burlingame then acquiesced, stating that if a communication was presented to me objecting to the time or place in his absence, I should change either or both at my discretion. I deem a knowledge of the facts on this point alike due to Mr. Burlingame and myself in view of the unexpected publicity which Col. Brooks has given to the matter through the press.

From the spirit of Col. Brooks' note I was induced to hope that no hostile action would result from the meeting which he invited. I believed that the retired place I had designated, being accessible by one day's travel, in a cool, healthful, and magnificently-picturesque region, remote from the excitement of metropolitan life, would be far more appropriate in the hot season than any point in the region of the District of Columbia. But Mr. Brooks seems to set out with the assumption that his note was in spirit, if not in form, a hostile message, or in other words, a challenge. What right had I, in this view of the matter, to drive the challenged party outside of the District? If the answer be to evade the laws of our country, then that answer admits the place to have been well chosen, because there is no State North or South, in which the laws do not prohibit such hostile meetings under heavy penalties. After assuming that the note was a challenge, he says that he could not reach the Falls of Niagara without running the gauntlet of mobs, assassins, prisons and penitentiaries, bailiffs and constables. It appears by the note of Gen. Lane to him that he had informed Mr. Burlingame at the outset, that he had the right of electing the place for the meeting, &c., and yet after it was chosen, he objected to it on the ground that it was "too far distant," and would subject Mr. Brooks "to so many hazards of arrest," and therefore advised him "to take no further notice of the matter." I will not stigmatize the people Southward as "mobs," "assassins," etc., but in behalf of the people between this point and Niagara Falls, I assert Col. Brooks would have been quite as secure North of Mason's and Dixon's Line as Mr. Burlingame would have been South of it. I know nothing of the rules of chivalry except what nature has taught me, nor have I studied, nor will I ever waste time in studying the matter of the Code Duello; but as my action in the premises seems to be rebuked, I leave the parties to show the "authorities" to justify their propositions. First, that the challenging party may, in his message make any restriction either as to the time or place of meeting. Second, that in selecting the place, the challenged party is circumscribed, geographically, by any precise latitude or longitude. Third, when the place is fixed by the party entitled to the selection, the challenger may retire from the field on his objections to distance, if within one day's travel, or from fear of "bailiffs and constables." Fourth, that under mutual agreement, not to give publicity, one party is authorized to publish the affair through the press, without the knowledge or consent of the other.

My complicity in this affair was induced solely by private friendship, and the hope that I might be instrumental, in some humble way, in restoring amicable relations between the parties.

I now dismiss the whole matter, as far as may be possible, from my mind forever, consoled by the reflection, that whatever may have been my errors in the premises, no brother's blood has been shed or life sacrificed, by reason of any act of mine.

LEWIS D. CAMPBELL.
Washington, D. C., July 26, 1856.

Mr. Burlingame accompanies this card of Mr. Campbell's with an elaborate statement of his own, from which we extract the concluding portion. It tells its own story and fairly pillories Brooks:

Of the conduct of Mr. Brooks in this affair I can scarcely trust myself to write. I owe it to truth to say that, from what I had heard and seen of him prior to his assault on Mr. Sumner, I had formed a high opinion of him, and that act, which I have properly stigmatized, I did think must have been abhorrent to his better nature. In remembrance of my opinion of him, and feeling that through his conduct I could still detect traces of a gallantry which some day might cause him to condemn, as heartily as others do, his assault on Mr. Sumner, I had a larger charity for him than did most of my friends. Indeed I have been blamed for intimating the opinion that in spite of that act, he was yet a brave man, even as late as my conversation with Gen. Lane. When he stated that Mr. Brooks desired a speedy meeting, I felt a glow of admiration for him as a gallant foeman; but I was wrong. The expressions of kindness for him, in which, following a proclivity of my heart, I had indulged were entirely misplaced. Out of regard for his feelings, inasmuch as he was so tender of mine, I will abstain from any further expression of my opinion, but leave men of honor to determine his position in view of his own conduct.

In response to his numerous insinuations, let him take my reasons. Why did he linger in the district where he was exposed to arrest? The intimation that my friends arrested him is unworthy even of him. I do not know the man who did it. The dearest friends I had could get no clue from me of the affair. I thought Mr. Brooks was in earnest, and prepared to meet him sternly without fail. If he was afraid to go to Canada, the nearest neutral ground, why did not name some other place? Was I not equally with himself exposed to the hazard of a foreign jurisdiction? He could have reached the place of meeting in a few hours, keeping the most of the way in the states of Maryland and Pennsylvania; but this he deemed "the enemy's country."—Where is a friend's country for me? Is it here, where my comrades are smitten down without warning? Here, where to make the defence of free speech effectual, I, against my early teachings, and the deep-seated sentiments of my people, have been driven, that I might secure a little fair play, and an approach to an equal chance, to go to the field even with Mr. Brooks? I think Mr. Brooks should not have based so many anticipations of danger to himself, on the possibility of my failing. I have not heard that anybody who had fair play ever fell before that arm whose single blow in the House its owner thought would have brought on a revolution.

It would have been a happy circumstance for me had I shown half as much regard for my reputation as our "gallant" friend did for his life. Then my name would not have been linked with one whose adroitness in getting out of difficulty is only equaled by his shrewdness in securing from an unsuspecting man what he tried to construe into an indorsement of his courage. I can indorse it no longer, and now give him full notice. It is kind of Mr. Brooks to hand me over to the reprobation of men, and then to propose to admit me to the position of a gentleman, provided I would challenge him. He seems to have forgotten how in his card he had just stated it was said of me that I would not send although I would accept a challenge. If I cannot hereafter praise the gentleman's courage, I can commend his prudence. This is revealed to us in the fact that, without seeking another place of meeting, he rushes into print in such a way as to make me forget my triumph in the shame I feel in the conduct of my antagonist. As if suspecting that I might change the place, he closes the door against it by stating that he should have no further demands upon me. I now dismiss as far as I can, the ex member from South Carolina from my mind. Self respect requires me to say that I can never again recognize save to do him a kindness, if it should be in my power, Preston S. Brooks. I hand him over to that public, North and South, which is ever scornful of those who boast much and perform little. And now, I hereby submit myself to the public whose convictions I fear I have invaded. I pray them to remember that forgiveness is a higher quality than justice.

I cast myself on their generous hearts, which are always tender, and always loving. Let them not forget when passing on my conduct the sneers I have seen and the taunts I have heard. How the old State we all love has been insulted, and her cherished Senator stricken down, and how he yet lingers in almost helpless illness. As you of my own State remember these things, you will not entirely blame me if, in a moment of indignation, I was willing to stand up at the hazard of my life, and what is dearer than life—for the insulted honor of those who have always been kind to me. I am no duelist. I seek no man's life. I have but acted in the spirit of the speech I made when I said that, if pushed too long and too far, there were men from the Old Bay State who would defend her honor and the freedom of speech in whatever field they might be assailed. My course became to me a defense of Liberty against Slavery, and a struggle for freedom of speech against freedom of the bludgeon; and the only way which seemed to be left us here, by which we could defend ourselves.

A. Burlingame.
Washington, July 28, 1856.

The Commerce of the Lakes.—The Cleveland Herald condenses from the report of the committee on commerce, a large number of important facts connected with the commerce of the Lakes. From this report it appears that the increase of Lake tunnage for the year ending June 30, 1855, was a fraction less than nineteen per cent.

A greater amount of tunnage enters and clears on the Lakes between the United States and Canada, than between the United States and any other foreign port.

The Lake tunnage for 1855 was 345,000 tuns, which, valued at $45 per tun, is $14,838,000.

The present value of Lake commerce (exclusive of Presque Isle and Mackinac, and reported,) is $608,310,320.

The value of property exposed to perils of Lake navigation, is greater than all the merchandise exported from the United States to all foreign countries, or imported from all foreign countries to the United States.

The seven Lake States—New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin,—have a population of 9,784,550, while the other 24 States have a population of 9,768,-486, leaving a balance in favor of these seven States over the twenty-four States, of over 16,-000.—This difference is increasing daily. Verily in point of numbers there is a North-West, and it is making back bone every day.

The value of vessels shipwrecked in eight years was $8,852,064.

Damages sustained by vessels for 1854 by St. Clair Flats, $660,146 56.

From 1837 to 1855 there has been collected for revenue on the Lakes, $5,511,129 98. Congress in the same time has appropriated for Lake Harbors $2,864,126, leaving a balance in the U. S. Treasury, as received from Lake commerce, over and above what has been taken from the Treasury to benefit the Lakes, the handsome sum of $2,627,004 98. Deduct the cost and expenses of the lake light houses for the same time, and the Treasury still has a balance of over $1,000,000.

Large Sales of Corn.—The Chicago Democrat of yesterday says: There was considerable of a flurry in the corn market yesterday, and large quantities changed hands. The day before it was dull at 44 cents, but yesterday from 150,-000 to 180,000 bushels changed hands at 45c, and some dealers held for 50.

Brooks' Canada Song.

To Canada Brooks was asked to go,
To waste of powder a pound or so,
He sighed as he answered, No, no, no,
They might take my life on the way you know.
For I am afraid, afraid, afraid,
Bully Brooks is afraid.

Those Jersey railroads I can't abide,
'Tis a dangerous thing in a train to ride,
Each brakeman carries a knife by his side,
They'd cut my throat, and they'd cut it wide,
And I am afraid, afraid, afraid.
Bully Brooks is afraid.

There are savages haunting New York Bay,
To murder strangers that pass that way;
The Quaker Garrison keeps them in pay,
And they kill at least a score a day.
And I am afraid, afraid, afraid
Bully Brooks is afraid.

Beyond New York, in every car,
They keep a supply of feathers and tar;
They daub it on with an iron bar,
And I should be smothered ere I got far
For I am afraid, afraid, afraid.
Bully Brooks is afraid.

Those dreadful Yankees talk through their nose,
The sound is terrible, goodness knows;
And, when I hear it, a shiver goes
From the crown of my head to the tip of my toes.
For I am afraid, afraid, afraid.
Bully Brooks is afraid.

So, dearest Mr. Burlingame,
I'll stay at home, if 'tis all the same,
And I'll tell the world 'twas a burning shame
That we did not fight and you're to blame.
For I am afraid, afraid, afraid.
Bully Brooks is afraid.

Touching Incident.—A fair-haired, bright beautiful girl, between the age of four or five years, belonging to Mr. Winchester, who resides at Powell's Mills on the Kinnikinnic, wandered from her home one day last week, and happening to be missed, search was made for her, and when found she was at the edge of the mill pond, drowned. She had gathered a beautiful bequet of the wild flowers which grow so luxuriantly here on the banks, and they were clasped tightly in her right hand; her little body was lifted out, life had fled, but the flowers were not removed from her grasp, and when she was laid upon her last resting place, her hands were crossed over ho breast with the flowers resting there, fit emblem of the pure spirit which had fled from the tenement around which friends were mourning. —Hudson North Star, July 28.

From the Milwaukee Atlas, (German.)

A Buchanan Know Nothing Elector.

Ripon, July 28, 1856.

To the Editor of the Atlas.

Sir: I desire to inform your readers, and the German population generally, through the medium of your columns, of one significant fact, in connection with the pending political contest; it is: One of the five electors on the Buchanan ticket resides in this town, Henry G. Webb by name; and this Henry G. Webb is a member and an officer in a little one horse Know Nothing Lodge which meets every week. There is no mistake about this. It will probably not be denied, but if it is denied, it shall be proved beyond the possibility of a doubt. What say the Germans to it? Are they satisfied with this union of Democracy and Know Nothingism in the person of a Buchanan elector.

☞ The Wheat Harvest, we are happy to learn, is progressing handsomely in this County. The crop of Winter Wheat is a very heavy one, Spring wheat looks exceedingly promising, corn never looked so well, and other grains promise an abundant yield. The haymakers say the yield of grass is better than has been known for years. Vegetables are doing well. The farmers are predicting very prosperous times.—Appleton Crescent, July 26.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Thursday Morning, July 31.

CITY MATTERS.

POLICE COURT, JULY 30.

BEFORE CLINTON WALWORTH, POLICE JUSTICE.

BATHING IN THE LAKE.—Four boys were arrested and after being confined in the Watch House all night, were brought up, charged with indecent exposure of their persons by bathing in the Lake. The defendants were discharged, there being no ordinance to convict them of the offence charged.

The ordinance against bathing &c., applies only to the Milwaukee and Menomonee Rivers. The City Attorney contemplates the preparing of one against bathing in the Lake, except between 9 o'clock at night and sunrise, which will enable parties to bathe with propriety, for it would certainly be too arbitrary to deny the mechanics and others the right to bathe at all, in the most accessible place about the city, the Lake.

George J Lee, having team unhitched, fined $—. Defendant, after strutting round the Police Court and giving vent to a good deal of bombastic language, refused to pay an officer for going with him to get the fine, and was taken to jail on an execution.

Brindle Severson, drunk and disorderly, fined $—, execution issued.

Patrick Roarke, drunk and disorderly, the defendant said it was entirely owing to misfortune, he was going going home, after taking a drop, when he was took up. As it was the second offence he was fined $5.

John Daily, drunk, fined $1.

Application was made to the Police Justice in the afternoon by Constable [illegible] for a warrant against [illegible] Schwarz, drayman No. 9, for having thrown into the canal 28 half barrels of spoiled white fish. The drayman informed the officer that the white fish belonged to Mr. Schr[illegible], who instructed him to throw the fish there, telling him that he would be responsible for all damage. A City warrant was issued against the drayman.

We were requested to call the attention of the City authorities to the ordinance "Regulating the manufacture and sale of bread." A great deal of complaint is made about the size of the loaves of bread now made, and their light weight. Bakers would do well to read the ordinance referred to, which is to be found on pages 86 and 87 of the ordinances and charter of Milwaukee, where they can see that they are liable to a fine of $— for neglecting to file with the City Clerk a certificate signed by them stating places of business, and a penalty of $10 for neglecting to make the loaves of prescribed weights and "marking them with the numbers indicating the weight of such loaves."

Suppose the Alderman of the 4th Ward calls the attention of the Council to this matter at the next meeting.—As bread is the staff of life, all regulations pertaining to its sale should be complied with.

NUISANCES IN THE THIRD WARD.—The Third Ward of this City is in the most filthy condition that it has ever been in—the nuisances are innumerable. Where is the Health Officer, at $40 per month? Gone to Waupun, we understand. Let any person walk through Huron and Detroit streets at night, and he will find the stench intolerable. Disease has already commenced there, and if something is not soon done to cleanse the Ward, death will make sad havoc this fall. We repeat the question, where is the Health Officer? He will be on hand to draw his salary, but his services are required now. If he is not going to do his duty, let him be discharged and the abating of nuisances fall back upon the Police where it properly belongs. They will attend to it, and the Ward will be made healthy in a short time.

PERMANENT CATTLE MARKET LOCATED.—Messrs Layton & Plankinton have just completed a permanent Cattle Market, facing on Fowler street and directly opposite to their Packing House on Water street. The whole of a lot is enclosed with a high tight board fence. The Yard is 50 by 150 and around are sheds for the Cattle, and a floor of plank is laid on the cattle lot.

The yard will hold about 250 head of cattle, with ample shed room, and Markets will be held regularly. Cattle will be received from the country and provided with fodder and water and sold or purchased by Messrs Layton & Plankinton. About 90 head have been sold this week, the prices averaging about $3,15 on foot. A large weighing machine is fitted up inside the yard, and all other facilities for weighing cattle.

FRENCH BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.—In our advertising columns will be found the card of Madame SEISSER, who proposes to open a French Boarding and Day School for Young Ladies, in September next. Madame Seisser brings with her the very highest testimonials as to character and capacity, and we do not hesitate to commend her enterprise to the patronage of the public.—A good French School is a great desideratum in our city, and we are confident that Madame Seisser will satisfy the most exacting in this respect. She has taken one of Mr. Furlong's houses, on Van Buren street, and expects to open her School early in September.

THE PRIZE GOBLET.—The elegant Silver Goblet presented by Mr. Van Cott to the Light Guard and won by Corporal Spalding, now bears the following inscription:

"Presented to the Milwaukee Light Guard by A. B. Van Cott, and awarded to J. D. Spalding, at their first Target Excursion, July 16, 1856."

It was a prize well worth shooting for.

CAUTION TO SHIPPERS.—GUNPOWDER.—The attention of Shippers and Forwarders is directed to the notice of Messrs KELLOGG & STRONG, in this morning's paper, relative to the shipment of Gunpowder, contrary to law.

THE COLLINGWOOD ROUTE.—The Buckeye State, which left for Collingwood yesterday, was crowded full of passengers. This route daily grows in favor. The next steamer leaves to-morrow morning. JEROME, on Huron street, is the passenger agent.

HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITION.—SPAAN has his show of Vegetables, Flowers, &c., at Young's Hall to-night. It will be richly worth a visit. See advertisement.

RAISING THE CUSTOM HOUSE.—The name of the contractor for raising the Custom House is McCalgne instead of Keogh, as we had it yesterday.

WALL'S ADVERTISEMENTS.—See what CALEB WALL has to say in our advertising columns this morning and "when found, make a note of it."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

ENGLISH AND MERCANTILE ACADEMY,

No. 40 Wisconsin Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

THE PRINCIPAL RESPECTFULLY informs the Public that the Fall Term of his School commences, Monday, 15th August 1856.

This Institution has been in successful operation for seven years. The Academic year comprises 4 terms of 11 weeks each, the first commencing on the 2d Monday of September.

The last term closed on the 25th inst. The whole number of students for the year was [illegible], of whom 54 were young ladies, and [illegible] young gentlemen in the Book Keeping Department.

Four Assistant Teachers are employed during the Fall and Winter Session.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT.

A competent Female has charge of this department, and children are received at any age.

THE LADIES' DEPARTMENT

Is under the immediate superintendence of Mrs. LARIGO. Young ladies recite in Prof. L's classes in English Grammar, Rhetoric, Composition, with a neat and fashionable style of Writing. Instruction is given in Embroidery, Drawing, Music, Latin, German, and are taught to read, write and converse in French daily.

C. F. L. takes pleasure in announcing to his friends and patrons the prosperity of the department during the past year. He pledges himself that it will be his constant care to secure the greatest amount of intellectual and moral improvement.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

This department is under the immediate charge of Prof. LARIGO. Instruction is given in all the branches of a thorough English and Commercial Education, including the Higher Mathematics, French, Latin and German Languages, and is designed to prepare youth for college or for business life. Perfect facilities are afforded to young gentlemen for acquiring in the most expeditious manner, a thorough knowledge of Commercial Science as practically employed in the Counting Rooms and Business pursuits generally.

The Fall course embraces the most approved and practicable forms for keeping Books by Double Entry in the various departments of Trade and Commerce, including general Wholesale and Retail, Mercantile Exchange, Commission, Shipping, Individual Partnership and Compound, Company Business with Commercial Correspondence in English, French and German. The Student is taught to copy all manuscripts in a bold and rapid hand, which serves as a great auxiliary to him in securing an excellent style of writing—a handwriting in every respect adapted to business pursuits is also warranted to every student who takes a full course with a Diploma.

Through the extensive business acquaintance of the Principal, many of his students obtain profitable situations.

Ladies and Gentlemen's French Class at 4½ P M.—Latin Class at 7½ A. M. German Class at 3 P. M. Evening Classes in Book Keeping, Writing, &c., from 7 to 10.

WASHINGTON, July 30.

Mr Yale from the P. O. Com. reported back a bill authorizing the P. M. General to contract with Mr. Vanderbilt for carrying the mail between New York and Southampton, with the amendment making it the duty of the contractor to extend the trips to Bremen or Havre ultimately whenever required by the P M Gen'l, without additional compensation for the round voyage. Also that Antwerp may at any time be substituted for either of these places. Another amendment directs the Sec'y of Navy to give the notice provided in the act of June, 1852, to terminate the arrangement of additional allowance for the transportation of the mail between New York and Liverpool by the Collins line of steamers. The bill was made the special order for Monday.

The bill for continuing the improvement in the Harbor of Newark, N J, gave rise to animated debate involving the entire scope of such questions without disposing of the bill the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The Kansas Election case was postponed until to-morrow. Mr Washburne, of Me., gave notice that he should move the previous question.

The bill expediting the issues of Patents for confirmed Land claims in California was debated and tabled by three majority.

The fortification appropriation bill was taken up and discussed and pending which the House adjourned.

ANOTHER STEAMBOAT BURNED.

Heavy Robbery.

Boston, July 30.

The steamship Arabia arrived at her dock from Halifax at 8 o'clock this morning. Too late to forward her mails by the early train.

Cincinnati, July 29.

A tornado passed over this city yesterday, accompanied by a heavy rain, uprooting trees and demolishing fences. A building was blown down in 3d street, killing one person and wounding five or six others.

Gen Tom Thumb's box of jewels and presents have been stolen valued at $20,000.

Providence, July 30.

A letter from Green Island, Straits of Bellisle, mentions a terrific storm on July 18th, driving 24 vessels ashore at that place. Three vessels were also lost off Dog Island, all on board perished, only one vessel rode out the gale. Fifty men are living in tents on Green Island.

Whitehall, Vt., July 30.

The steamer John Jay was burned yesterday on Lake George. Several passengers and crew perished. The bodies of four females have been recovered.

Washington, July 30.

The Secretary of the Interior recommended to Congress the passage of a law fixing the time in which the maps of the definite locality of railroads may be filed at the General and Local Land Offices.

He suggested the period—twelve months be designated for that purpose—applicable to the grants of lands made at the present session of Congress, made for railroad purposes and otherwise. That immediate steps be taken by the Department for restoring any lands for entry and location which may have been withdrawn for such railroads.

At the present there is no time fixed for filing maps or completing selections of lands, and hence this recommendation of the Secretary of the Interior, made at the suggestion of J. Wilson, the Acting Commissioner of the General Land Office.

Carlisle, Penn., July 29.

A heavy thunder storm here last night, five barns and one dwelling were struck by lightning. The barns were filled with the owners entire crops. Other damage in different parts of the county is reported.

Boston, July 30.

The steamer Niagara sailed at noon to-day.—She takes out 110 passengers and upwards of $270,000 in specie.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, July 30.

The Senate took up the bill to regulate the compensation of Members of Congress.

Mr Collamer, of Vt., proposed a substitute providing that they shall receive for attendance at the Sessions 25 per cent. additional to what they are now entitled to by law. The bill was referred to Committee on Finance.

HOUSE.—The House discussed the bill providing for a settlement with the widows and orphans of the soldiers of the Revolution.

WASHINGTON, July 29.

EVENING SESSION—HOUSE.—Mr. Colfax of Indiana was made Chairman.

Mr. Kelsey opposed slavery and its extension and favored the admission of Kansas with the Topeka Constitution.

Mr Hopkins, Fillmore K N, insisted upon the importance of extending the time of naturalization probation to prevent political huckstering on foreign capital, and to preserve the Republic.

Mr Caruthers of Missouri justified the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. The only political act of his life that he was ashamed of, his having joined the K N's, which he now repudiated as an old line Whig. He gave the reasons why he preferred Mr. Buchanan to Mr Fillmore, who he said had no chance of an election.

Mr Tappan, of New Hampshire, in opposing slavery extension, said that the Fremont party are surely contending for the application of the principle to Kansas, which Jefferson proposed to all the Territories of the United States in 1784. The Democracy are now leagued with the Slave Power against Freedom.

About a dozen members were present throughout the evening.

Adjourned.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

More Gold.—Excitement at San Francisco.

NEW YORK, July 28.

The steamer Illinois arrived at noon Sunday, bringing California dates of July 5th, Panama and Aspinwall 14th, and $1,650,000 in gold. She connected with the J. L. Stephens, which brought down upwards of $1,000,000 in treasure.

The J. L. S spoke the Sierra Nevada on the 12th and the Sonora on the 17th, both bound up.

Advices from San Francisco indicate that the State authorities had determined to make no further resistance to the Vigilance Committee.

The startling event of the week was the shooting of S R Hopkins by Judge D. S. Terry, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. Hopkins had proceeded to the office of Dr Ash, Navy Agent, for the purpose of arresting R. S. Moloney, charged with attempting to convey munitions of war to the city for the use of the State. Judge Terry being present, interfered to protect Moloney, and together with others formed an armed party to escort Moloney to the Dupont street Armory.

Hopkins collected assistants, and attacked the other party in the streets. A struggle ensued, in the course of which Terry stabbed Hopkins with a bowie knife, who fell senseless.

News of this melee was immediately conveyed to the Vigilance Committee, who were then in session, and a general alarm was sounded for the rolls of the committee's troops. In fifteen minutes one regiment of infantry, two companies of cavalry and five companies of artillery were in motion.

Meantime, Maloney and his party had taken refuge in a brick building, well guarded and fortified.

The building was invested on all sides by the Committee's troops, and the inmates ordered to surrender. They obeyed without hesitation and Moloney and Terry were conveyed prisoners to the head quarters of the Committee.

At the same time the Armory's of the State troops were invested and forced to surrender to the Committee. 100 of the State troops were taken prisoners, but subsequently released on parole.

At last dates Judge Terry was in custody of the Committee, and Hopkins was still alive.

On the same day Hopkins was stabbed, two vessels with arms for the State authorities were seized in the Bay by the armed vessels belonging to the Committee. Subsequently, J. L. Durkee, commander of one of these vessels belonging to the Committee, was arrested by federal officers, and held in $25,000 bail on a charge of piracy.

The Committee disclaim all intention to oppose the federal authorities.

Much indignation is manifested at San Francisco relative to the bill before Congress for granting land titles in California, said to have been introduced by Herbert. On the day following the stabbing of Hopkins, the Committee arrested a notorious gambler named Dan Aldridge.

Hopkins, at last accounts, was considered out of danger.

Markets at San Francisco very dull.

Flour had steadily declined. Jobbing sales of Gallego had been made at $15. Suffolk held at $14,50. Another shipment of 20,000 bbls to Australia was contemplated, which would leave the market entirely bare.

Cargoes of new wheat have been received of an excellent quality.

OREGON.—The grasshoppers have destroyed one third of the vegetation in the Willamette.

Col. Buchanan's fight at the Big Meadows with the Indians resulted in the total defeat of the latter. All the chiefs of the most important tribes were either killed or captured.

Eno, a Canadian Indian, well known as Col. Fremont's guide, is among the killed.

Dates at Panama are from Valparaiso June 15th, and Callao 29th.

A serious defalcation had been discovered in the Treasury at Bolivia, in the Peruvian Bank deposit.

Gen. Belsen and Simon De Otra, managers of the mercantile house of Cloye, Quevedo & Co., are implicated, and the latter house has declared bankrupt. Bel[illegible] share of the fraud is said to be $700,000.

A private note to the Herald, written at San Francisco just as the steamer was departing, says:

"Judge Terry has offered the Committee that if his case be submitted to a jury on a public trial, and if he should be convinced of even a common assault, he will immediately resign. The proposition has not been accepted.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The New Kansas Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 29.

HOUSE.—On motion of Mr. Doty, the House reconsidered the vote by which was referred to the committee of the whole on the state of the Union the bill to amend certain acts of the Legislative Assembly of Kansas, and secure to the citizens of that territory their rights and privileges.

Mr Dunn submitted a substitute recognizing Kansas, and providing the usual territorial machinery. Provision is made for freedom of speech and the press, that oaths of whatever kind are prohibited, and cruel or unusual punishments are not to be allowed. All criminal prosecutions now pending in any of the courts for treason, and for alleged violation or disrespect of what are usually known as the laws of the Legislature of Kansas shall forthwith be dismissed, and every one thus deprived of his liberty released. The bill also restores the Missouri restriction, provides for the encouragement of settlement and of education, and repeals all parts of the Kansas Nebraska and other acts in conflict with this bill.

Mr Smead moved that the bill be laid on the table. Motion lost, by 77 against 93.

Mr Dunn's substitute was then agreed to, and the bill thus amended passed—Ayes 88, nays 71.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed, 93 to 80.

Before the vote was announced, Mr Campbell of Ohio said that having been assured by Mr Washburne of Maine that the Senate will amend the bill by taking out its obnoxious features, he would record his name in the affirmative.

Mr Washburne replied that his faith was in a committee of conference rather than in the Senate. The bill passed—89 to 80.

WEST'S

Patent Galvanic Cement for Roofing.

THE ATTENTION of Architects, Builders, and the public generally is invited to this article as being far superior to other compositions in use for roofing purposes. In fact, we think it superior to any other roofing, for it has more essential qualities combined for roofing, than any other material used, viz: Imperviousness to water, incombustibility, durability and neatness. It is Fire and Water proof, and can be applied to flat or steep roofs. In its texture and appearance it resembles slate—will not soften and run in the warmest weather, nor become hard and crack in the coldest. Therefore it forms a good walk on piazza's, flat roof tops, steamboat decks, &c. Its fire proof quality particularly adapts it to Railroad building, [illegible]. It is especially adapted to repairing old roofs, around battlements, sky lights and chimneys, lining eave troughs, &c.

This roofing has been extensively used in the [illegible] States on the most expensive buildings. Testimonials can be seen from the owners of buildings [illegible], and also specimens by calling at the office.

The subscribers own the right for the [illegible] and will sell territory by county or towns, on reasonable terms.

For further information apply at the office of [illegible], Architectural rooms of Mygatt & Schmidtner, corner West Water and Spring streets, [illegible] one of the proprietors.

EIGHT COUNTRY SEATS, of 20 acres each, adjoining each other, within one mile of the city limits, for sale. A golden opportunity for a profitable investment.

Having determined to retire from the profession and remove from the State, I now offer for sale my whole stead of 160 acres, one mile south of the city limits and adjoining Walker's Point bridge. It is situated upon four corners and has a so that by dividing it into twenty acres each, each with equal frontage on the road, will give a magnificent country seat, on one of the four roads or four residence sites, each with forty rods front to each residence, from all of which, when the intervening timber is removed, the City and Lake will both be in view.

The farm has ever been considered the best of its size in Milwaukee County. It is a warm, rich, gravel loam, especially adapted to gardening and vegetables, and may be divided into four homesteads of forty acres each, in a square form, and will each have a durable water upon each forty acres, and not an acre of waste on the whole, or any but the best quality of land.

Eighty acres of the farm are now in a good state of cultivation, (half of it meadow) with over forty acres fenced, where the stumps do not average more than one to the acre. There are a good log cabin, built and a well finished frame barn, 30 by 40 feet, and upon the premises. A thrifty young orchard of nine-acres.

The old Eagle going it with a Rush!

THE EAGLE
STEAM FOUNDRY!
—OF—
TURTON & SERCOMB,
296, 298, 300, 302 and 304 West Water St.

IS STILL IN FULL BLAST, WORKING DAY AND night to supply the daily increasing wants of the Badger and other States.

In order the better to do this the proprietors have erected a large brick Foundry in addition to their former premises. They have added to their stock of Tools a large Planing or Shaping Machine, three Lathes, and a Machine for making bolts, and are now putting in a Steam Engine of —— horse power to drive the whole, thereby adding to the former facilities for the successful carrying on of the Foundry, Machine, Engine and Blacksmithing business. They never were in a better position for doing business, and in any department.

In regard to the character of the work got up by this

The Oldest Establishment in the State

the Proprietors refer to that in successful operation through the country as their best recommendation, as it can speak for itself. All they can say is that they are both PRACTICAL MECHANICS, and know how work should be done as well as the next man.

They continue to manufacture FLOUR and SAW MILL GEARING, and STEAM ENGINES, on the most approved principle.

They have always on hand a large stock of BRASS WORKS such as GUAGE AND CYLINDER COCKS, OIL CUPS AND COCKS, and STEAM WHISTLES. Also TURTON'S PLUGS, which they will sell at the lowest cash price.

They are also Agents for EASTMAN'S PATENT STEAM GUAGES, which are well worth the attention of all those who use Steam Engines.

In conclusion, they invite a continued share of the patronage of their old friends, and solicit a call from all those in want of Saw or Flouring Mill Work, assuring them that no exertions will be spared to render the Old Eagle worthy of the reputation it has already gained.

Their motto is, "Excelsior"

F. M. LANE'S
PERMANENT GLOSS PAINT.
Important Improvement in Painting

A PERMANENT GLOSS PAINT for inside or outside work has long been a desideratum. All paints prepared from Linseed Oil, will rapidly turn from the lightest and most opposite tints to the yellow color of the oil itself, the change being the more rapid as the paint is excluded from the full light of day.

The subscriber, after a sufficiently long experience in its use, can recommend it as the only Gloss Paint in which this important defect is effectually remedied. This beautiful paint can be applied of any color, from the purest white, resembling enamel or porcelain, to all the different varieties of tints, suitable for private dwellings, Churches, Hotels, &c., whilst in brilliancy and richness of surface it surpasses all other paints. It possesses superior advantages in retaining permanently even the most delicate colors with which it is combined.

Also, Plain and Ornamental Painting, decoration of Private Dwellings, Churches, &c., Sign and Fancy Painting.

PINNEY YOUNGS' PATENT SAWING MACHINES.
PATENTED JANUARY 30, 1855.

THESE CELEBRATED SIDING MACHINES are the only Machines that do or can cut both ways and thus avoid loss of time in gigging back. They cut with ease, when properly attended, Fifteen Hundred Feet per Hour. They are not more complicated, nor more likely to get out of repair, than any other Siding Machine. A Machine on this plan for sawing wide lumber in connection with an upright saw for slabbing the logs will excel anything in existence. We have sold a large number of the Siding Machines, all of which have given the most perfect satisfaction. They are

MANUFACTURED ON THE WATER POWER, IN THE CITY OF MILWAUKEE,

Under the supervision of the inventor, where Machines may be obtained, on application to

PINNEY YOUNGS & CO

We subjoin the following Testimonials of the estimation they are held in by purchasers.

PINNEY YOUNGS & CO
MANITOWOC, MICHIGAN, October 1st, 1855

Gentlemen:—In answer to your inquiry as to how I am pleased with the Siding Machine of Pinney Youngs' Patent you sold me, I can truly say it is better than recommended. It far exceeds my expectations. To give you an idea of what can be done with it, I will give you an account of a few hours sawing. It cut in four hours and twenty minutes, Eight Thousand Nine Hundred and Sixty feet of lumber, superficial measure and that in the most perfect manner.

Yours truly,
[illegible]
